DRESS LIKE KING?
WILL FEELS SORRY FOR JOE ROBINSON

(Special To The News)
LONDON, Jan. 17.—Landed here at 2 yesterday afternoon by lamp-light.

Our peace pilgrims arrive at Plymouth Rock today. Morning papers here today announce the type of clothes to be worn at the opening of the king on Tuesday. Says every one is to dress the same as the king.

I am here as official observer for the Democrats and social adviser to Senator Joe Robinson, minority member of the delegation, and I am going to have a tough time making that suit of Joe's look like anything the king ever owned.

So if Joe and I don't get in you will know there wasn't anything we could put on so that we would be mistaken for King George.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The mercury registered only seven degrees this morning, compared with 59 last Tuesday, which is quite a change.

The cold snap has sent local streams down fast. The Neshannock is now almost at a normal level, while the Shenango has fallen close to three feet in the last two days.

Need for a new directory listing the inhabitants of New Castle is being clearly shown every day. Information contained in the present directory was compiled in 1927 and the directory was issued in 1928. Practically three years have elapsed since this time, during which there have been a great number of changes in the population here.

Sled-riding is in vogue again, since the heavy snowfall and the sleds are getting dusted off for use.

There is evidently one auto owner in this city that is not at all keen to taking a chance with his shiny new car. Pa. News noted it parked on Highland avenue hill, yesterday afternoon, while autos were skidding all over the street. If the car escaped without being damaged, it is sort of a miracle.

Traffic cop Tommy Jones, who presides over the corner of Mill and Washington streets did a little safety work or his own accord yesterday. When the snowfall made the sidewalks and street skiddy, and he noted a number of folks falling to the pavement, he secured a bag of salt, and sprinkled it over the crossing.

The slippery hills about New Castle proved traps to certain motorists late Thursday afternoon and in the early evening. The newly fallen snow of the afternoon made driving hazardous. On the Highland avenue and Jefferson street hills were some of the worst jams Pa. News has ever seen. Soon after the snow fell, Jefferson was asked while Highland was asked up to the curve. Above the curve there was nothing but ice. The East Washington and Croton avenue hills also brought considerable trouble.

Proof that New Castle has one of the finest junior high schools in the state is seen in the fact that headquarters of the state department of public instruction, in writing to an outside school board group which had Armed with the extradition papers signed by the governor, asking the governor of Arizona to release to Lawrence county, Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford, a delegation of six, including County Detective H. Martin Lee, Sheriff Frank N. Johnston, Lieutenant J. Boettner of the State Police, Private Ernest Moore of the State Highway Patrol, and Mrs. Minnie McKibben, city policeman, leave at 8:50 o'clock this morning over the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie for Phoenix, Arizona.

The sixth member of the party will be Charles Evans of Benwood, W. Va., sent by the county for the purpose of identifying the third member of the group arrested in Arizona and who claims to be other than Tom Crawford, brother of Irene Schroeder. He knows Tom Crawford and will be able to determine whether the third member of the party is, or is not, Tom Crawford, wanted here in connection with the killing of Corporal Brady Paul.

County Detective H. Martin Lee arrived back here late last night from Harrisburg with the extradition papers signed by the governor.

State Police, County And City Officers, At Work On Case

State police today questioned a young man as to his whereabouts Wednesday night when Clark Rea was shot and killed in his home near Coaltown road, Neshannock township. State police it is reported were satisfied with his story.

Sirus Clark Rea, 60, Neshannock township eccentric who was shot and killed allegedly by three young robbers Wednesday night had a premonition he would be robbed and killed according to his brother, E. H. Rea, about 55, who is held today in the county jail as a material witness. So far no arrests have been made but police are searching for several suspects for questioning.

Thursday afternoon, E. H. Rea, a witness to the murder in the squall home immediately off the Coaltown road, was removed from a city police cell and questioned by county, state and city authorities.

Repeats Story
The aged man, who is as eccentric as his brother, described again the manner in which the murder and holdup occurred and told how he had crouched in a corner and begged his life be saved while one of the robbers held a gun against his forehead.

Questioned about a dream he is supposed to have had, E. H. Rea told the authorities that he had not had the dream but that several days prior to the holdup and crime his brother, known as Clark, had described to him as having had a dream in which he was to be robbed and killed.

At first he was reticent and later said, "It is too terrible to tell." He denied he had had the dream.

Gradually the statement was developed that his brother had described the dream to him.

In the dream his brother was supposed to have had a premonition of "bad crops," "fires around the field," and of the holdup. He said they took no effort to protect themselves.

The aged man, considerably eccentric in his ways shuddered and at times his breath came in short gasps. The two brothers worried over the dream and in one of their conversations it is said, the brother said to E. H. Rea:

YOUTHS IN JAIL
OTHERS IN CRIME

District Attorney Announces Pair Confess To Robbery And Shooting Of Clark Rea At Coaltown On Wednesday Night—Guns Used In Crime Are Recovered—Two Youths In County Jail

Mystery surrounding the murder of Clark Rea, 60-year-old inoffensive but eccentric bachelor resident of Neshannock township, at his home a short distance north of Coaltown, has been solved through the efforts of District Attorney John S. Powers and L. B. McAnaney and Charles F. Barrett, special investigators designated by the district attorney, two of the accused murderers are in custody and the identity of the other two known. This is the statement of the district attorney this morning.

The youths under arrest, in confessions, acknowledge their part in this unusual crime, implicate two others and corroborate the statements made from the first by E. H. Rea, brother of the murdered man, the district attorney says.

Charges Made
In the county jail charged with the murder of Clark Rea on Wednesday night, Jan. 15, are Charles Llewellyn, aged 19, of English avenue, and William Grimm, aged 20, of McClelland avenue. Following their confessions they were taken before Alderman L. C. Mantz about 2:30 o'clock this morning by County Detective H. Martin Lee, where the charges of murder were made, after which they were placed in the county jail. The same charges were made against those they implicate.

They implicated as their pals Jesse Martin, Shady-side, and Jack McDevitt, 501 Uber street, according to the district attorney. They, too, are youths of about the age of the two young men now in jail. Both have apparently disappeared, as efforts to locate them have so far been of no avail.

Make Confessions
In their detailed confessions Llewellyn and Grimm give all the details of the crime, tell of having planned the affair for some time, believe that there efforts would be rewarded by the money they were inclined to believe the Rea brothers had.

They tell how they visited the isolated Rea home about a week previous, but their courage failed them, then how on the night previous to the murder they met, perfected their plans, and then how, on Wednesday night, Jan. 15th, the plan of the previous night was carried out. Clark Rea was murdered, $43.54 in actual cash secured and divided, and part of the guns hidden in another car from that which they made the murder trip in.

Show No Fear
In every move connected to, in every action since their apprehension, Llewellyn and Grimm have displayed a non-chalance, a calmness, that almost surpasses belief.

When first met by the special investigators, McAnaney and Barrett, they were apparently enjoying a game of pool in a downtown poolroom. They displayed little interest, when asked to take a ride and have a talk with the investigators.

For more than an hour, they resisted all ordinary efforts of the investigators to secure some information. It was Llewellyn, who finally made the first admission.

After the making of the confessions, they continued their apparent indifference manner and at no time, was there any tendency to break down as they admitted to the facts concerning the murder.

Apparently the planning, and commission of the murder and robbery was just another ordinary incident as far as the youths in custody and those yet to be apprehended and ingenuity, craft tendencies and unmitigated nerve were exercised by them at all times.

Act On Tip
Acting on a tip placed at their disposal by District Attorney John S. Powers, L. B. McAnaney and Charles F. Barrett, acting under the instructions of the district attorney as special investigators in this case, because of the fact that County Detective H. Martin Lee is busy in the Corporal Brady Paul murder case, by a series of personal deductions and eliminations, landed and had the confessions of the two youths apprehended in a few short hours after starting out last evening.

taken down by Charles F. Barrett, signed by the youths making the confession and witnessed by the district attorney, McAnaney and William Llewellyn.

Confessions Made
When their confessions had been transcribed by Barrett, they were read to the youths, whose rights had been previously explained to them, who were asked if they had any corrections to suggest. William Llewellyn was also asked if the data, written down was satisfactory and when all agreed that the statements as transcribed were all right, they were signed and witnessed.

The confessed murderers were then removed to the district attorney's office and later to the Alderman's office and from there to the county jail, after which the district attorney and McAnaney continued their efforts to locate those youths implicated by the two others in their confessions.

Plan Robbery
Charles Llewellyn in his confession told how they, Grimm, McDevitt and Martin had planned robbing of the Rea home for more than a week.

He stated that they had made one trip out to the place to get the lay of the land. This was about a week before the actual robbery and murder.

On this trip, Grimm had a 22 calibre revolver, while McDevitt had a thirty-two calibre revolver.

When they got there they got cold feet. However, they peeked through the window and saw the Rea brothers inside. Llewellyn and Grimm went to the back door, according to this statement of the former and rapped on the door.

One of the men inside asked what was wanted, but did not open the door. They replied they wanted some of the cash and man replied that they did not have any. The four youths then left.

On the night of January 14, the night previous to the murder and robbery, they met and made definite plans and arrangements for the visit to the Rea home the following night.

About 6:30 p. m. on the night of the 15th, Llewellyn stated he took his father's Overland touring car to McClelland avenue, where he secured Grimm. They then went down town and picked up Martin and McDevitt on West Washington street.

Go To Rea Farm
They then started for the Rea home. This time they all had guns, Llewellyn, Grimm and Martin having twenty-two calibre Young America Double Action revolvers, which had been found and in the hands of the district attorney, while McDevitt had a 32 calibre revolver which has yet to be found.

Parking the car on the road, they went down through the fields to the Rea home. Arriving at the house, McDevitt and Llewellyn went to one window, securing bars and in the night while Grimm and Martin went to the opposite window also armed with barrel staves.

Crash In Windows
First Martin and Grimm smashed in the window at their side with the barrel staves. One of the old men, Clark Rea, according to Llewellyn grabbed up a chair and threw it through the window that had been broken. Then Llewellyn and McDevitt smashed in the opposite window with their barrel staves. Martin and Grimm then hurried around to the second window that had been smashed in and all started to shoot into the home from this window.

They saw one of the men fall, then McDevitt got up on the window sill and went in through the broken window, followed by Llewellyn and Grimm in the order named. Martin remained outside on guard.

As they entered, the brother, who had not been shot was crouched down from the lounge and wall.

McDevitt rushed over to him, Llewellyn started and crouched over him, his gun saying, "Give Us Your Roll and Don't make a move or You'll die." The old man fumbled in his pockets and handed over fifty-four cents.

Takes Money From Dying Man
McDevitt then turned to the man on the floor, Clark Rea, who lay there gasping, having turned over on his back and reaching into his inside pocket, securing $43. He then searched the bed, Llewellyn confessed, but found nothing.

Martin who was on guard outside and did not enter then called in "I'm watching but hurry up." Finding nothing in the bed, McDevitt, according to Llewellyn, turned around and said "Let's Go Boys." As he spoke, McDevitt stepped on the bed, then onto the window sill and out of the window. Llewellyn and Grimm followed in the order named. They ran for their car, and on getting into the car thrust the three 22 calibre revolvers into the pocket of the car. McDevitt retained his revolver.

Divide The Money
On the way in they divided the money. Llewellyn and Grimm receiving $11 each and Martin and McDevitt dividing the balance. Hurrying into town, they took McDevitt down Mill street, letting him out at the B. & O. freight station at Division street. Martin was let out at Water street near Royster's gun shop.

It was about 8:30 p. m. by this time and Llewellyn drove in a hurry to his father's shop, he having been told to take his father home. His father was waiting for him.

He and Grimm accompanied by the father of Llewellyn then drove to the Llewellyn home. After his father had gotten out of the car and gone into the house, Llewellyn told Grimm, he says, to get the guns out of the

Blonde And Both Companions Are To Be Brought Back To New Castle

By LEO DOLAN

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—

First steps in the nearing legal battle to bring Irene Schroeder from her Arizona Waterloo to what may prove to be her Pennsylvania Elba were taken today when Governor John S. Fisher signed requisition papers asking Governor John C. Phillips to relinquish prior claim to the blonde gunwoman so that she may be returned to face a Pennsylvania court of justice for the killing of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway Patrol.

The requests for extradition were brought here by M. Martin Lee, Lawrence County Detective, and were signed by Governor Fisher shortly before noon. The requisitions also call for the surrender of Thomas Crawford and W. Glenn Dague to Pennsylvania authorities.

Warrants which accompany the requests for extradition charge each of the three with murder and manslaughter. The information against the trio was signed by Thomas M. Goetner, lieutenant of the state police.

Mrs. Schroeder and her two companions, believed to be Dague and Crawford, are being held in the Mariopa jail at Phoenix, Ariz. The trio was captured by a posse of deputy sheriffs and citizens, under the leadership of an Indian guide, who tracked them through the sage brush to their rendezvous in the foothills and surrounded and captured them.

Refuse to Sign Waivers
Although Sheriff Charles Wright of Phoenix has notified state police here that the woman and her companions have refused to sign waivers of extradition proceedings, pressing a legal battle over their return to the Keystone state authorities here are confident that Mrs. Schroeder, Dague and Crawford soon will be enroute to Pennsylvania to face murder charges growing out of the murder of Corporal Paul.

In Arizona, Mrs. Schroeder and the men are faced with charges of abducting and wounding a deputy sheriff during their wild flight through the desert. In Pennsylvania they are charged with murder. A guilty plea on a conviction, on a kidnapping charge in Arizona might bring the maximum penalty of life imprisonment as provided by the statute in the western state.

Sympathy Lacking
Public sentiment in this state was whipped to a white heat by the ruthless murder of Corporal Paul. Instead of simmering down to a lack-lustre interest, as usually happens when a crime is committed and day after day goes by with no new developments, the clamor for the apprehension of the alleged murderers doubled and redoubled until word of LONDON, Jan. 17.—The American delegation to the Five-Power Naval Arms Conference arrived here from Plymouth at 2:10 p. m. today (9:10 a. m. E. S. T.) and received a rousing welcome from an imposing throng of statesmen and officials.

When the special train carrying Secretary of State Stimson, the other delegates, and two American ambassadors who had gone to Plymouth to greet them, General Charles Gates Daves and Hugh Gibson, pulled into the Paddington station, they were met by Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson, first Lord of the Admiralty, V. Alexander, Premier MacDonald's private secretary, Admiral Madden and Malcolm MacDonald, all of whom represented the British Premier.

Tremendous Ovation
The imposing welcoming delegation had been waiting at the station for forty-five minutes for the arrival of the train.

Outside the gates of the station a huge throng awaited to record the American delegation a tremendous popular ovation.

Secretary Stimson was the first to leave the train. He was warmly greeted by Foreign Minister Henderson.

Ambassador Daves, taking the role of master of ceremonies, introduced the various delegates and other members of the official American party to the British Foreign Minister and the others of the welcoming committee.

Outside the station a number of automobiles awaited the American delegation.

Taken To Ritz Hotel
After chatting briefly, the visiting delegates accompanied by the welcoming party stepped into the waiting vehicles and were whizzed away to the Ritz Hotel.

As the delegates appeared outside the station the waiting throng let out

Recommend That Proper Steps Be Taken To Acquire Site And Erect Building

Lockhart Believes Building Can Be Erected Without Additional Bond Issue

Speaking before members of the board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, County Solicitor John P. Lockhart, stated that in his opinion, it may be possible to relieve congested conditions now existing at the Lawrence county court house, without the necessity of an additional bond issue.

This statement will relieve much of the anxiety in minds of those who might be opposed to this progressive step and seems to pave the way for early action by the county commissioners on the project.

The meeting was called by the Chamber of Commerce to secure an opinion on the necessity for erecting a new court house and the steps which would be necessary to secure action on the proposition.

The meeting, in the nature of a luncheon at The Castleton, was attended by County Commissioners T. J. McCullough, and C. C. Boyd, and their attorney, John P. Lockhart, in addition to Carl Paisley and Verne Dufford, representing business interests of the city.

It was brought out in the discussion that there is not adequate jury room, and other necessary facilities in the present court house, and that conditions are badly crowded, and in practically every way, the present institution fails to meet present and future needs.

County solicitor stated that besides the possibility of erecting a new building without an additional bond issue, it might also be done without increasing the present millage.

Commissioner Boyd stated that the assessed valuation of the county at present was $74,000,000 and that the bonded indebtedness was $1,600,000 at the close of 1929. $80,000 of this amount has been recently retired.

The present bonded indebtedness is much below the average in proportion to its wealth.

In discussing the project, it was brought out that there seemed to be no doubt of the present need for a new court house building. The steps that would be necessary to bring about the construction would be that a grand jury must first recommend the purchase of necessary property for its construction. This recommendation would then have to be approved by the court, which would give the county commissioners the authority to proceed.

A motion of approval was passed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce as follows:

"The board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, in meeting assembled this 15 day of January, 1930, recommends that the county commissioners of Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, take proper steps to acquire such property as is, in their opinion, necessary, and continue in their activities for the erection of a new court house for Lawrence county. The Chamber of Commerce will do everything possible to cooperate with and assist them in this project."

Those present in addition to the guests mentioned above, were: President W. F. Moody, directors, T. W. Dickey, James K. Love, Ira M. Ramsey, L. G. Genkinger, H. L. Gordon, W. W. Duff, John H. Lamb, James M. Smith, Hon. J. A. Chambers, W. J. Orfutt, and Secretary Alfred W. Chilton.

P. O. Elder, the other members of the board of commissioners was unable to attend the meeting yesterday because of a death in his family.

Girl, 11, Calm At $1,000,000 Fortune

Will Get Car Of Her Own As Soon As She's Big Enough

(International News Service) DENVER, Jan. 17.—Eleven-year-old Josephine Barth, who is heiress to one of Colorado's large pioneer fortunes, says "it's nice" to get that much money, but beyond that statement the slender, blue-eyed youngster is too busy having a good time to bother much about a mere $1,000,000.

Josephine became the ultimate heiress to the large estate of her grandmother when the district court recently upheld a contested will.

Josephine "knew something was up" during the entire fight over the will, because she had a guard with her wherever she went and her teachers were instructed to keep a close watch over her.

But the heiress hasn't much to say about her good fortune.

"Yes, it's nice," she remarked succinctly. That was her only comment on the inheritance.

But when she turned the conversation to swimming and automobiles her big eyes shone.

"I'd rather swim than do anything else," she declared eagerly. "Daddy takes me swimming lots in the summer time. And I dive off the high spring board," she confided shyly.

"Some day when Daddy isn't watching, I'm going to try the tower," Josephine goes to a school for girls and a chauffeur takes her there and brings her back every day. But this won't last always, according to Josephine.

"I'm going to get a car of my own as soon as I get big enough to drive," she said.

Slander Is Alleged In Suit On Trial

Mrs. Emma Galich Wants $10,000 Damages From Mark Kastra Of Bessemer

Slander is alleged in a suit on trial today in Judge Hildebrand today in which Emma Galich is asking $10,000 damages for injuries to her reputation as a result of a story told by Mark Kastra to the effect that she was going out with men in automobiles. Emma Galich is the wife of Joe Galich, both the plaintiff and defendant residing in Bessemer. Mrs. Galich claims that she has always been a good and true wife and that the stories circulated by Kastra have greatly injured her in the estimation of her friends.

High School Youth Victim Of Bullet

(International News Service) CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 17.—County officials today are investigating the death of Flore Deblasio, 14, a freshman in the Dunbar high school near here who succumbed to a bullet wound in the head.

The boy was found lying unconscious in a pool of blood in the lavatory of the school after he had been excused from a class room. He died in a hospital here shortly after midnight, without having regained consciousness.

No motive for suicide is known.

ROMANCE TO END IN DIVORCE

Divorce is to be the next chapter of the storybook romance of Ralph and Rosamund Gluck Powell, of Omaha, Neb. The couple met when Powell, a tennis star, was secretary to Mrs. Arthur Schoellkopf, of New York, wealthy widow of the power magnate, and his future wife was traveling companion to Mrs. Schoellkopf, her aunt. The aunt disapproved of the match and discharged them when they married. The Powells moved to Omaha and vastly changed surroundings, but apparently were happy. The divorce suit brought by Powell, charging cruelty and desertion and asking for custody of their son, Ralph, Jr., four, comes as a surprise to their friends.

Seats Go 'Up' As Cars Fill On Dutch Trolley

Down They Come, Too, When Crowd Thins Out And Conductor Yells Order

An idea which may be of value to American street car companies, says the London correspondent of The Baltimore Sun, was picked up by the writer while on a trip to Amsterdam two weeks ago. Having secured a seat with a Dutch friend on a street car, everything was going along nicely, although the conductor was crowding up with standees. Suddenly the conductor shouted: "Dames en Heeren de banken op," which was translated later as meaning "Ladies and gentlemen, let the seats be up."

At once, in response, all the sitters sprang to their feet, and as they did so the long seat bounced back on hidden springs so that it came flat against the side of the car, thus leaving on each side an extra stripe of space the length of the vehicle plus a width of twelve inches. With every body standing, the conductor now marshaled in a score or so more people, the removal of the seats making this possible.

As the ride continued the passengers began to thin out and in due course the conductor yelled: "Dames en Heeren de banken neer," which means, "You can now let down the seat." Hands went out and pulled the contraption, and these nearest flopped into the seats with sighs of satisfaction. The Dutch street car system figures that by this ingenious method it can get two dozen more people into a street car than would be its normal capacity if folk were to both sit and stand.

Car Owner Clear If Guest Is Hurt

Supreme Court Holds Husband Not To Blame For Mishap To Wife

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Growing litigation in the courts of the United States arising from damage suits instituted for injuries suffered while riding as guests in automobiles driven by owners offers a fruitful field for legislation in the States, the Supreme Court held today in deciding a case in which a wife had brought action against her husband.

"In this day of almost universal highway transportation by motor car," said the opinion rendered by Justice Stone, "we cannot say that abuses originating in the multiplicity of suits growing out of the gratuitous carriage of passengers in automobiles do not present so conspicuous an example of what the Legislatures may regard as an evil such as to justify legislation aimed at it, even though some abuses may not be hit."

The Court's comment was made in the case of Mae Silver of New Haven, Conn., who sued her husband, Benjamin Silver, for injuries received when his car bumped into a telephone pole.

The appeal came from the Supreme Court of Connecticut, which had sustained the decision of the lower Connecticut Court, holding that the State's law did not make the owner and driver nor his insurance liable in such a contingency. On the basis of the Connecticut law the Court ruled that recovery could not be made, but indicated that it was wholly within the power of the State to create new rights by legislation.

MEETING POSTPONED The meeting of the cultural class of Hadassah has been postponed from Saturday, January 19, to January 26. This meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Abe Fisher, Moody avenue, from 2 to 3 p. m.

Financial Position Of Auto Companies Is Best In History

(International News Service) DETROIT, Jan. 17.—The financial position of all the established automobile manufacturing companies never has been better, leading authorities say.

Their prediction is that 1930 will be one of the best years in the history of the automotive industry.

When, in 1923, production of passenger cars and trucks passed the 4,000,000 unit mark for the first time, the leaders declared that figure was the standard around which must be calculated the progress of future production.

The effort to reach that figure fell short in 1924 and again in 1927, but by a relatively small margin. In 1928 and 1929 production went forward at full speed.

More cars than industry ever before produced in one year were turned out in the 12 months just closing. Exact figures will be available about January 15. Up until November 1, 5,017,806 units had been produced, compared with a 12-month total in 1928 of 4,601,130 units.

Married 24 Hours; Even That Too Long

(International News Service) FLINT, Mich., Jan. 17.—A short duration marriage record was established recently when Theodore Evans 26 applied for a divorce from his wife 24 hours after he had married her.

Evans was married to Bessie Fry 23, of Otsville on Christmas day. Less than 24 hours later his suit for divorce was on file in circuit court.

"Most extreme, repeated and wanton cruelty" is charged by Evans. He claims that his bride insisted on being taken to her mother's home immediately after the wedding ceremony.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank W. Field of the Oak Park Methodist Episcopal church here.

Cleveland Inventor Plans to Circle Globe

Harry A. Husted, Cleveland inventor and manufacturer, is planning to cut in two the Graf Zeppelin's 21-day world-encircling record by performing the same feat in 10 days and 12 hours. Husted's proposed route is from San Francisco to Hong Kong, Siberia, Moscow, Paris, London, Newfoundland, New York and back to San Francisco.

(International News Service) Woman's new freedom is especially enjoyable if at night she can return to a house where some mere man gives assurance of safety.

Policeman's Corn Reveals Fugitive

Trampler Picks Poor Location; Recognized As Bail Jumper

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 17.—The corn on the foot of Police Lieutenant William Armstrong of the Los Angeles police was a sure enough pain to Samuel Seaman of Chicago.

Seaman, wanted here for bail jumping in a swindle case, is one of those persons who delight in a carpet of toes on which to walk when pursuing his way to his theater seat and such. It is said of him that he inclines to the unpopular practice of getting up at intermissions, tramping as many toes as are in his path, and then returning to his seat in much the same fashion.

The corn on the foot of Police Lieutenant Armstrong now becomes pertinent. It had been troubling him more than usual this particular day in Los Angeles. He decided to take in a boxing match where he could park it comfortably.

Seaman also went to the box fight. He had a seat in the same row as Armstrong. Armstrong had with him a circular with Seaman's picture telling that Seaman was wanted for jumping bond. Seaman trod roughly toward his seat. Armstrong's corn was in his path. Seaman stepped on it. Armstrong leaped up. Then he looked his tormentor in the face. He snatched the Seaman circular from his pocket and arrested him.

Seaman was brought back to face trial on the original charge of swindling.

STORE EMPLOYEES ARE ENTERTAINED

The Strouss-Hirschberg Company entertained last New Castle co-workers at dinner Thursday evening in the ballroom of the Castleton Hotel. Sixty-eight employees and executives were present upon this occasion.

A. W. Dean was master of ceremonies, introducing those who participated in the evening's program. Miss Mary Harvard was leader of the pep singing, in which the entire group joined heartily. Other features of entertainment were vocal solos by Miss Harvard, Mrs. Lucy Holliday, and Mrs. Elizabeth Layton, a comedy monologue by Mrs. Ruth Withers, and a vocal duet by Mrs. Layton and Mrs. Rebecca Swift.

Among the representatives of the organization in Youngstown were: C. J. Strouss, president of The Strouss-Hirschberg Company, Henry Goldstein, R. J. Beacom, and G. V. Thompson, each of whom addressed the gathering briefly. A special message was received from B. H. Hirschberg, vice-president of the firm, and one of its founders, who was unable to come for this event.

Dancing, and games of bridge and five hundred, followed the dinner, with Mr. Strouss, Mrs. F. M. Crosby, Miss Marion Falls, Miss Martha Owens, Miss Mary Price, Miss Mayne Fulkerson, Miss Marie St. Clair, Miss Mary Harvard receiving prizes.

A decorative scheme of green and pink was carried out in the table arrangements, pedestals and ferns being used in the background.

W. C. T. U. LUNCHEON CELEBRATES VICTORY

About 200 members of the Lawrence county W. C. T. U. and special guests celebrated the tenth anniversary of the 18th amendment to the constitution in a fitting manner Thursday, when at noon the bells of the city and county rang for ten minutes and at 1 o'clock they gathered in the Central Presbyterian church for luncheon and to hear several speakers.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Margaret Walker, president of the Lawrence County W. C. T. U., who introduced the different persons seated at the speakers' table. Representatives of different organizations of the city were represented and brought their greetings to the union.

Greetings for the occasion were sent by Mrs. E. J. Pattison, a past president of the organization, who is now in her 92nd year. She wrote a most charming letter and stated that on account of the advanced years she was unable to be present, but her heart and best wishes were there.

Robert White, city solicitor, gave an address, citing the condition of New Castle before prohibition and at the present day, stating that in spite of the propaganda distributed by the wets, the country is in much better condition than it was prior to ten years ago. His address was enthusiastically received by the audience.

Dr. John Coleman of Geneva college was the guest speaker and spoke on "America's Leadership in World Peace." He congratulated the women of Lawrence county on their reputation of stick-to-itiveness in this project and went on to state that it was through such efforts as have been shown in the past that world peace will be established in the future.

Music was furnished throughout the dinner by a ladies' orchestra, Mrs. W. J. Caldwell rendering a pleasing vocal solo number and also leading the pep singing.

GOWANDA CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Covers were marked for 20 at a charmingly appointed 6 o'clock dinner Thursday evening when Mrs. John Jackson and Mrs. P. H. Kearns received members of the Gowanda club in the former's home on Highland avenue.

The table was attractively centered with a bowl of sweet peas in pastel shades and each place was marked by a corsage of the same flowers. After an elaborate menu had been served the members and guests were entertained by a reading given by Mary Catherine Jackson and the evening hours were spent in social conversation.

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. Carl Hart, Mrs. S. L. Maxwell and Mrs. W. J. Montgomery of California.

The club will hold its next regular meeting February 13 at the home of Mrs. Ed Mayberry, Blaine street.

SAWALLA CLUB HONORS GUEST AT MEETING

Mrs. Carl Holmes was a pleasing hostess to members of the Sawalla Club, when she entertained in her home on Miller avenue, Thursday, and had as a special guest, Mrs. John M. Shilling, of Akron, Ohio.

Three tables of bridge were in play, with the honors going to Mrs. Roy Bovard and Mrs. Albert J. Tidball.

The hostess was assisted in serving a delicious luncheon by Mrs. J. Roy Jones at a seasonable hour.

On January 30, Mrs. J. Roy Jones, of Moody avenue, will entertain.

Birthday Party

In honor of the 18th birthday of Miss Martha Keely of Park way, a group of friends gathered at her home Thursday night. The evening proved to be a most enjoyable one, music, games and social chat being diversions.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Valentine favors and candy being used. Miss Keely received many lovely gifts.

Queen Sewing Circle

Mrs. E. E. Blaine received seven members of the Queen Sewing Circle in her home on Walnut street Thursday evening for their regular meeting.

After a business session the hours were spent with sewing which was followed by refreshments served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Harvey of Edgewood.

Miss Goldie Blaine, avenue will entertain in two weeks.

TAKES LEADING ROLE IN JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

DOROTHY ATWOOD

Miss Dorothy Atwood of Sharon, who took the leading role in the junior class presentation of "The Cat and the Canary" last month at Westminster will again have the leading role in the second production of the mystery play next month. A number of requests for another presentation of the play prompted the junior class to plan to give the mystery the first week in February.

Mrs. Burrows is PLEASING HOSTESS

Twenty-nine members and guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. W. E. Burrows, Morton avenue, Thursday afternoon, when she entertained the Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church.

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Shields and Mrs. Morris' group had charge of the program, which was presented as a radio station with Mrs. Minor and Miss Ethel Weiss as the voices from the Methodist school in that place.

The group pledged $180.00 to the Thank offering fund for the year and accepted an invitation to attend the district conference of missions to be held in the First M. E. church, January 22 at which time Mrs. Clifford S. Joshua of the Croton Avenue Methodist church will be the speaker.

HONORS SISTER AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. C. Samuels of Porter street entertained at a surprise party in honor of her sister, Mrs. Harry DuPuy, in their home on Thursday with 28 present.

The home was beautifully decorated with various flowers and music was furnished by Miss Elizabeth DuPuy at the piano and Miss Alma Rickel playing the saxophone.

The hostess served a dainty lunch, assisted by her niece, Mrs. J. Dufford, and Mrs. Paul DuVal.

The honor guest was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Birthday Party

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Metz of the Petersburg road, a few friends gathered on Tuesday evening at their home to celebrate their birthdays, which occur this month, and they were pleasantly surprised.

Mrs. Metz were presented with a number of lovely gifts and at a late hour the ladies in the group served a delicious lunch.

Those wishing them "happy returns" were Mr. and Mrs. Ward Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder of Palestine, Mr. and Mrs. H. Witherspoon, Mr. and Mrs. C. Paden, Mr. and Mrs. William Deininger, Mr. and Mrs. F. Witherspoon, Mr. and Mrs. William Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Metz, M. G. Paden, Mary, Alice and Dorothy Metz.

Laura Strickler Class Meets

The Laura Strickler class of the First Baptist church met last evening in the home of Mrs. Harvey Cooper, Meyer avenue with the president Mrs. Bert McKibben in the chair. Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. J. E. McComan and after the business routine had been disposed of the class joined in having a general good time.

At a late hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Bert McKibben and Mrs. Jack Simons.

Girls Club Honors Guest

Members of the Girls club were received in the home of Mrs. Robert White on Hazlet avenue Wednesday, honoring Mrs. John Farr, who is an out-of-town guest of friends here.

The hours were pleasantly spent in a social way and a delicious luncheon was served at a seasonable hour by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. S. D. Pearson.

Macedonian Circle

Members of Group 3 of the Macedonian Circle of the Second United Presbyterian church had a delicious luncheon in the home of Mrs. T. P. Kennedy of Leasure avenue, Thursday, with a good attendance.

During a business meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. R. T. Galbraith; secretary, Mrs. Robert White; treasurer, Miss Minnie Jackson; social secretary, Mrs. Robert Garraway; bank offering secretary, Miss Mary Aiken; and magazine secretary, Mrs. A. E. Thirteen members of the Reunited Ladies League met at the home of Mrs. George Wymann, Maryland avenue Thursday evening for their regular meeting. The evening was enjoyed with games and music.

The club will meet January 30 with Mrs. Charles Irvin of Franklin avenue.

HOMER ST. GAUDEN'S PLEASES AUDIENCE

To take a trip through the different European countries and visit in different art galleries and the homes of the famous artists and view some of their works, was the pleasant experience of the art lovers who heard the lecture given in the high school auditorium last evening by Homer St. Gauden, director of art in the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. St. Gauden was brought to the city under the sponsorship of the Art club and associated clubs of New Castle. Mrs. F. L. Burton was chairman of program arrangements and greeted his audience, introducing the speaker in a pleasing way.

Mr. St. Gauden took the audience with him vividly on a trip through Poland, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Spain, Sweden, Norway, Germany, France and England and his story of some incidents in his encounters with the artists and their work in these countries was highly humorous as well as instructive.

W. L. W. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEETING

The W. L. W. club members met in the home of Mrs. Charles Richardson on Vogan avenue Thursday afternoon with music and 500 being the pastimes.

Game On Saturday Means League Lead

New Castle Meets Real Opposition In Battling Evans City High

Both Coaches Report Team Getting In "Peak" For Coming Tilt

By CHARLES LANDOLF.
With one day left Coach Bridenbaugh is drilling his New Castle high basketball team for Saturday night when the undefeated red and black cagers play Evans City in a floor contest at Evans City the winner to head Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L. The local lads are having red-hot workouts these days for this important tilt.

No Favorites.
To pick the winner of this game before it is played or even pick the favorite would be foolish. Both teams appear to be evenly matched. Both are undefeated in the league with Evans City according to statistics having played teams with more opposition than the teams New Castle has played. Evans City's record shows victories over Butler high and Ellwood City in the W. P. I. A. L. New Castle took the measure of Mars and Zelnople in the first two games.

May Change Lineup.
Coach Bridenbaugh appears worried over this game. On Saturday night at Evans City a devised lineup may be seen. Then again he may use the same lineup he used in defeating Ambridge high the other night. This was made up of Luther Rowe and Francis Wario at the forward posts, Arthur Alexander at the pivot and Nick Uram and Ralph McAuley at the guards. Opposition will be keener than the locals have found it to be so far at Evans City.

He is trying different combinations in the practices in the hope that he may locate one that will stop the Evans City march to the W. P. I. A. L. throne.
Coach Ripper reports his team getting in the peak of condition for the game which will determine the leader of Section Three of the schoolboy league. He intends to use the following lineup which has come through victorious in the two W. P. I. A. L. encounters: Kennedy and Patterson at the forwards, Denbow at center and Ripper and Miller at the guards.
Evans City is preparing to take care of a record breaking crowd to watch the conflict which is expected to be one of the best ever witnessed in Evans City. A large crowd will probably follow the red and black clad boys from Lawrence county to the scene of the battle Saturday.

Soccer Team To Play At Ambridge

On account of so many games being postponed, and the affairs not being properly taken care of, Mr. H. Fairfield, president of the Western Pennsylvania Soccer Football Association, of which New Castle, being a member of the Press Beaver Valley Soccer League, which is affiliated with the Association, has ruled that there shall be six games played, to finish the regular schedule.
New Castle Soccer team will, in accordance with the schedule forwarded by Mr. H. Fairfield, travel to Ambridge, tomorrow Saturday, January 18. All players are asked by Jack Jones, manager to be at the Y. M. C. A. at no later than one o'clock.

Amateur Floor Notes

The Carnegie Midgets added the Wampum Boy Scouts to their string of victims at the Carnegie auditorium on Wednesday evening. The score was 39 to 19. The entire Carnegie team shared in the victory over the Scouts. Last night the Midgets downed the Scarlet Five 23 to 12. Vigali and DiGenaro featured for the winners, with Melanic and Ovas the best for the losers. The Carnegie Midgets have won twenty games and have yet to taste defeat this year, they are out to cop the midget championship.

Kandy Kids Win

Wampum Kandy Kids Basketball Team Take 15 To 10 Victory At Madison Square

The Wampum K. K. Klub journeyed to New Brighton and tucked another victory under their belt when they defeated the fast Mayer China team of the Beaver Valley Industrial loop, 15 to 10. It was by far the best game played this year on the New Brighton armory floor, according to all basketball fans who witnessed the game.

The game opened fast and furious and at the end of the first quarter the Mayer China boys were leading 3 to 2. The Mayer China team, out to revenge the 33 to 9 defeat previously, unhooked a rally late in the second quarter and were still in the lead 9 to 4 at the end of the half.

A good talking to was handed the Wampum players by Coach Patterson at this point and it seemed to do words of good. The Wampum team flashed a fast attack at the beginning of the third quarter and were only behind one point at the end of this quarter, 9 to 8. Not to be denied of victory, a field goal by Boone and a free toss by Aiello put the Wampum in the lead at the beginning of the fourth quarter, 11 to 9. A free toss by Gilaob of the Mayer China made it 11 to 10, and the fans went into hysterics. With only two minutes left to play, Aiello and McKim each sunk successive baskets which put the game on ice. This victory was the 16th out of 18 starts for the Kids and promises to be the best season ever.

Aiello and Demark played the best for the Kids while the best for the losers was B. Mason and Greene. The defense of the K. K. Klub was brilliant, only one basket being scored against them in the last half of the game.

Tonight the K. K. Klub journeys to Wilkensburg to play a return game with the Forest Hills "5", who were defeated earlier in the season by a 20 to 12 score.

Manager Sturgeon is finding it difficult to keep his schedule filled up and would like to hear from Enon, Darlington, Mt. Jackson or any other first class junior aggregations.
Summary:
K. K. Klub..... Mayer China
Boone..... F..... B. Mason
McKim..... F..... D. Mason
Aiello..... C..... Gilaob

WINTER PRACTICE IN KEEPING THE HEAD DOWN

FOR GOLFERS WHO ARE PRACTICING INDOORS TO GET THEMSELVES READY TO MAKE GOOD SCORES IN THE SPRING WE SUGGEST THE FOLLOWING WAYS TO KEEP THE HEAD DOWN—

McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.

RAISE A LONG BEARD AND STAND ON IT WHILE MAKING THE GOLF SWING.

IF YOU HAVE A FAT SON GET HIM TO SIT ON YOUR NECK.

PUT ON A PHONOGRAPH RECORD WITH SOME BAD NEWS AND TAKE YOUR SHOT WHILE YOUR HEAD IS BOWED IN GRIEF.

LET A STREAM OF COLLAR BUTTONS FALL TO THE FLOOR AND YOUR NATURAL INSTINCT TO HUNT THEM WILL KEEP YOUR HEAD DOWN.

Braddock Favored To Beat Lomski

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—James J. Braddock, New Jersey knockout specialist, tonight will appear in his light heavyweight finale against Leo Lomski the Aberdeen assassin in a ten rounder in Promoter Jack Dempsey's fifth venture here as a promoter.

Braddock today ruled a one to three favorite to bowl Lomski over with his rugged, two-fisted attack which once put "Tuffy" Griffith away.
Lomski however is prepared with much the same sort of hard-hitting offensive with experience aplenty besides. In a previous bout Lomski won the decision at the end of a close battle.

Archie Bell, New York bantamweight and Harry Fierro, Chicago boxer are the principals in the ten round semi-windup.

Inventory For Parents Taking Stock Of Traits Good Way To Start 1930

Am I doing all I can to keep myself physically fit to be a good parent? Do I get enough sleep when I am permitted to do so? Do I relax when I get the opportunity?

Am I the master of my fears? Have I patience? Can I keep wholly calm under trying times? Do I use my voice well? When I am weary and excited, do I keep it soft and low? Do I speak distinctly in the presence of my children? When they are noisy am I able to be very quiet? Do I guard my tongue? Do I say "no" and "don't" as rarely as possible? When I say "no," do I mean it? Has my child learned to accept it without doubt? Am I consistent? Does my child learn to prophesy almost exactly what I would say or do concerning a request of his?

Do I make but few commands? Have I learned to get along almost entirely without commands? Do I praise as often as I disapprove? Do I help my children to get satisfaction from good conduct? Do I celebrate success in him? Do I let my child express himself? Do I look into his eyes and listen courteously to him when he speaks to me, answering all his questions kindly? Do I let him know my good speech models? Do I face him when I speak to him?

Has he learned to let other people express themselves? Has he learned to respect their rights and feelings? Does he handle property with care? Have I good imagination? When my little child recites his yarns of fancy am I big enough to listen to them and enjoy them? Do I live with him in his land of make-believe, mingle with his fancies, talk with them and walk with them?

Do I let him paint and color, draw and build? Do I stimulate him to create and to invent? Do I know that he is being educated best when he plays with other children of his age?

Do I have good manners toward my child? Am I as courteous to him as I demand that he shall be to me? Do I ever interrupt him, contradict him or talk back to him? Must I always have the last word with my child? Do I avoid arguments and word battles? Am I a good sport? Could I hold adult friends if I were as rude to them as to my child? Do I make him feel that what he says and does and finds of greatest interest is worthy of my notice? Do I share his joys and sorrows with him? Does he know I really care for him?

Have I the courage to deny him wishes whose fulfillment I am sure would do him harm? Have I the character to think and plan ahead and to stand by what I know is best for him? Have I a spine, together with a sympathetic heart? Do Dad and I often sit down in conference to plan together what we are going to do or not going to do in relation to the child? Do we iron out our disagreements in his absence? In his presence do we act as one?

Do I allow my child to wait upon himself, make decisions and learn independence? Do I know the place which habit has in health and happiness? Do I have a clock? Do I use it?

Harvard Hopes To Find Wilk Comet

(International News Service) CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 17.—The elusive Wilk comet, which has been escaping the telescopic eyes of astronomers since its discovery, may at last be definitely located by Harvard University's celestial gazers.

Harvard astronomers are focusing the big telescope at the observatory here hoping to observe the wanderer of the depths of space, which is calculated to be approaching the sun at a speed of about 1,000,000 miles a second.

The comet was first discovered by an astronomer named Wilk at the University of Cracow, Czechoslovakia. He took a photograph of it and the picture has been enlarged three times at the Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wis.

The tail of the comet, which is constantly lengthening as it approaches the sun, was estimated at the time of its first observation, to be 2,000,000 miles in length.

Here Thursday To View Junior High

Ladies Of Bellevue School Board
Make Inspection Of George Washington High

Two members of the Bellevue board of education, Mrs. Nellie Robertson and Mrs. Belle M. Johnston accompanied by Miss Agnes Dickson principal of Bellevue's junior high school made a thorough inspection of the George Washington Junior high school Thursday afternoon.

Yesterday's trip was for inspection purposes solely, Bellevue being in line for a new junior high school some time during the present year.

The group learned of the local school through a letter which the Pennsylvania department of public instruction sent them in reply to their request asking for the department's opinion of the most representative junior high plans in this section of the state. In the letter the department suggested visits to the Taylor-Alderidge, junior high of Pittsburgh, the Mt. Lebanon junior high and the George Washington building here.

The five remaining members of the board S. Frank McKee, chairman; Homer Freese, James Graham, Harry Picking and E. D. Jenkinson will visit the building Saturday.

Average Man Knows All Of 60,000 Words

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, Jan. 17.—The average American knows about 60,000 words, or four times as many as Shakespeare, who is credited with having had the world's greatest vocabulary, according to Prof. Miles A. Hanley, of the University of Wisconsin.

Prof. Hanley made this estimate here recently while attending the 46th convention of the Modern Language Association of America.

Many of the words forming the present-day vocabulary and dictionary were not in existence when Shakespeare lived and wrote, Prof. Hanley pointed out. While the average American probably knows 60,000 words, it must not be taken for granted that he uses them. Shakespeare knew his 15,000 words intimately.

Final Exams Start At Senior High

Final examinations for the first semester of the present school term began on Thursday morning at the senior high school it was announced today. They will continue until January 22.

Aginaldo Goes Into Hiding

BY THE FALL OF 1899 THE WAR IN THE PHILIPPINES WAS ENTERING A NEW PHASE. MACARTHUR'S AND LAWTON'S COLUMNS HAD CAPTURED TOWN AFTER TOWN, AND AGUINALDO'S ARMY HAD BEEN BROKEN UP BY THE HAMMERING BLOWS OF THE AMERICAN FORCES.

THE INSURGENT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR, THE PRESIDENT OF THE FILIPINO CONGRESS AND OTHER HIGH NATIVE OFFICIALS HAD BEEN MADE PRISONERS, BUT AGUINALDO EVADED CAPTURE AND WENT INTO HIDING.

THE INSURGENTS WERE EXHAUSTED, BUT STILL FULL OF FIGHT. AGUINALDO ORDERED HIS OFFICERS TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES WITH THEIR MEN AND, AFTER A PERIOD OF REST AND PREPARATION, TO BEGIN A RELENTLESS GUERRILLA WAR ON THE AMERICANS.

AGUINALDO REMAINED THE MOVING SPIRIT AND GUIDING HAND OF THE INSURRECTION. FROM THE SECURITY OF ONE OF HIS HIDING PLACES IN THE MOUNTAINS OF NORTHERN LUZON HE DIRECTED THE OPERATIONS OF HIS GENERALS. TOMORROW—GUERRILLA WARFARE IN THE PHILIPPINES

Geysers Are Used For Heating Of Iceland Schools

Heat Which Has Been Allowed To Go To Waste Heretofore,
Now Being Used

REYKJAVIK, Jan. 17.—Iceland is putting its geysers to work. A common phenomenon here, despite the incongruity of their appearance in a land whose very name breathes of the cold, the many geysers and hot springs of the country have not been utilized to the full extent of their possibilities. Now their heat is being harnessed.

The largest and most famous geyser in the country bears simply the name Geyser. Occasionally this giant throws a stream of boiling water to a height of 35 to 50 feet. Fifty years ago these outburst occurred once or twice daily. Now they are rare. But there are still plenty of natural hot springs to offer considerable opportunities for their development.

Several farms are heated almost entirely from the hot water, and a schoolhouse is heated by the same method. Another is not only heated by natural hot springs, but has a bathing pool filled from the same source. The water also has curative properties, and the children in this school are consequently among the healthiest in a population noted for its health.

A third school to be heated on the hot water plan is now to be built at Reykholt, one of the historic spots of Iceland, located in the southwest part of the island. This place is mentioned in saga. The famous historian and poet, Snorre Sturlasson, lived and was killed there in 1241. He was born in 1178 and is considered the first of ancient historians of Iceland.

Nation's Capital A Tinder Box

Washington Filled With Temporary Combustible Structures And Fire Danger Is Ever Prevalent; New Buildings To Relieve Danger

Temporary government buildings in Washington, built during the war. Inset, air view of the same.

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Although a fire in the Capitol building only ten days after flames had left little more than the walls standing of the White House's left wing did bring from Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan the ejaculation, "There must be more than coincidence in this," nevertheless investigation soon left little doubt that coincidence was about all the sequence amounted to.

Coincidence mixed with a modicum of carelessness that is to say. The truth is the government ought to be mighty thankful it has not had a sure-enough fire in the last few years.

Ever since the World war when the departments overflowed all their old quarters important subdivisions of them have been housed in the most amazing collection of inflammable rattletraps that veritable mountains of almost invaluable records were stored in in any capital in the world.

These shacks were slapped up pell-mell, acres of them in extent out of almost nothing but lath and plaster with the country already in the world conflict and literally anything passed muster.

Except that none of them exceeds three stories in height and probably could be jumped from through their windows without a very heavy casualty list, the danger to their occupants lives as well as to property would be frightful. Even as it is an alarm would have to be instant for they would burn like card structures.

To be sure the government's building program will empty the worst of its temporary war time edifices within a few months but the risk has been sneezed at for ten long years. For that matter it is not too late yet for the finest bonfire in the history of Washington.

The authorities know it and have all along.

"No smoking signs not only line all the walls of the crates in which a full half of the workers in such departments as those of commerce and the treasury spend their time but the slightest flicker of flame is banned under dire penalties anywhere in their neighborhoods outside.

For instance the census bureau is accommodated in as combustible a shell as if it were made of pasteboard, indeed more so for pasteboard might not flare up so readily if it were wet and the census bureau's mammoth drygoods box is as parched as tinder.

Needless to say the census bureau's entire stock in trade is its years' accumulation of statistics. It is no exaggeration to state that an explosion could hardly burn a dried-out frame work of two-by-fours to smithereens in shorter order than it would go up in smoke if a playboy child held a match to it for a second and a half.

Of course the government's buildings (not counting the ones now under construction which are regular modern steel and concrete affairs) are middling fire resistant.

The interior and labor departments and the main offices of the commerce department also are all right. The homes of the state, war and navy departments and the older agriculture department buildings would burn—not in the wink of an eye out if they got a good start as the west wing of the White House did.

The Capitol be it understood is substantial in its 18th and 19th century way.

It is difficult to imagine a fire that could gain such headway in it (unless it were deliberately set and encouraged as by the British in 1814) as to damage is seriously—structurally.

A lot of its contents however, would burn like a pine knot.

It is somewhat disquieting to realize that such a fire actually can smoulder in it as it did recently un-discovered until flames and smoke burst right out through the roof and dome for chance passersby to see and give the alarm.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS,
Editor The Farm Journal.

Written for Central Press.

About this time of year the professional and amateur statisticians get out their adding machines and start to grind out figures on the farming business.

They will show what the 1929 production of farms was in dollars and what the cash sales were. What the average farmer should have gotten for his time as a worker and for his brains and attention as a manager, and many of them will wind up by telling the farmer how much more money he ought to have made and what a general sucker he is to be in the business at all.

There would be no complaint about this if it were a true picture of farm incomes. But as a matter of fact it is a very incomplete picture and consequently misleading.

It is wrong, in the first place, to speak of the "average farmer." There is no such thing. You cannot average six and a quarter million farmers. You cannot average a colored man with his mule in Mississippi with Thomas D. Campbell in Montana with 90,000 acres of wheat, with a poultryman in New Jersey with 5,000 White Leghorns in a four-story laying-house, and get any result that means anything.

Suppose five farmers have incomes of $8,000 each and five other farmers incomes of $800 each. You can say that in this case the average income is $4,400, but which one of these ten men is the "average farmer."

However I started to speak of something even more important and that is that the actual income of farmers is something that is not known to anybody.

Nobody knows, for example what value should be placed on the free house rent that the farm family receives.

Nobody knows just what food and fuel the farm family obtains from its own farm, nor what valuation ought to be placed on it. I am personally convinced that the item of food from the farm—milk, eggs, poultry, meat, vegetables, fruits, etc.—is grossly undervalued in most studies of this kind.

Most important of all, nobody knows how much and how many ways the farm family income is increased by outside work or the carrying on of some other business "on the side."

We can be sure only of one thing, it seems to me and that is that the real farm income, the real reward for labor and management is much higher than the statisticians are able to figure it.

Certainly there is no movement of energetic and progressive farmers off the productive farms of the country. There is a good profit in most branches of the business when carried on by a man who knows what he is about. He does not remain on the farm because he is a sucker but because he believes in country life for his family and earns an income that is a good deal higher than the statisticians would have us believe.

It is obvious to the thoughtful observer that lines are being laid for a legal attack of the Agricultural Marketing act of 1929.

Just how this will be done and when, and who will make the assault, I do not know. There is no way of knowing. But it may come sooner than we think and may even be public knowledge by the time this sentence gets into print.

The Marketing act is too revolutionary, its principles are too dangerous to established lines of trade, to pass without challenge.

Just as the Pure Food and Drug act was fought in the courts, just as the Stockyards and Packer Control act, the Co-operative Organization act, all had to be fought up to the supreme court for decision, so the federal farm board will shortly find its authority and powers questioned and its activities tied up for an indefinite period.

Some preliminary mutterings of the storm were heard a few weeks ago in the protest of grain trade interests in the northwest against the formation of the new co-operative grain agency under the advice and with the help of the farm board.

Simultaneously, the United States Chamber of Commerce, through its president, reminded the farm board that its approval of co-operative farm selling should not be interpreted to mean that co-operative organizations should interfere with established channels of trade.

To this Chairman Legge of the farm board replied that this was asking the board to "hang its clothes on a hickory limb, but not go near the water." It was not to be expected, ed, he said, that a far-reaching change in selling methods of grain, cotton, livestock or wool would not force some important adjustments in the present distributing system for these products. But he denied that there need be any damage to anybody except the out-and-out speculators, whose activities he said were of no real value to producer, consumer or anyone else.

As I say, these events are not of importance in themselves. But they show the growing uneasiness of the distributing trades. And this will presently take form, I am sure, in an attack in the courts from some source on the constitutionality of the Marketing act.

This is a good thing. If the very broad powers given by congress to the farm board are beyond the limits of their constitutional power, the sooner we know it the better. It is unlikely, I think, that the supreme wrong with the Marketing act. Their decisions on the previous laws I have referred to above were uniformly favorable to agriculture, and the Marketing act will be a tough one to upset.

But whatever view the supreme court takes, the definite closing of the subject is a necessary step, and the sooner it is taken the better.

"Church pews never skid into a ditch," observes the Cincinnati Enquirer. Perhaps not, but they have other similarities, not the least important of which is that they hold a lot of back-seat drivers who think they know more about preaching than the pastor does.

There is something significantly disturbing in having the picture of Chase on the $10,000 bills; to most persons going after one of them it's bound to prove a hopeless, stern chase.

OFFICERS ON WAY TO WEST FOR BLONDE AND PALS

ONE FLEET ALREADY SUNK, SAYS WILL; THEY'RE SCHOONERS

(Special To The News)
LONDON, Jan. 18. — Say, this sinking conference is already a success. The American delegation arrived this afternoon and went into conference at once at the American bar and sunk a fleet of schooners without warring.

They brought eighteen young typewriters with 'em. That's four and a half blonds to the delegate, and I can write in long hand, left handed, everything that will be done here in the next month. But say, the blonds cleaned up. Nobody looked at a delegate.

They even brought some marines on the boat to show it was a peace conference.

Tomorrow I lunch at the embassy with Mr. Davies and will see if we can dig up some clothes so Joe Robinson can get in.

Yours,

ENROUTE TO PHOENIX.
Arizona, Jan. 18. — At two o'clock this afternoon, the party of officers that left New Castle this morning, was enroute to Chicago, having left Cleveland, Ohio, at 12:43.

That there are to be no chances taken on any escape of the prisoners once the officers get them in their custody is evident from the fact that they are taking with them a large assortment of handcuffs, leg irons, and other paraphernalia to secure prisoners. The prisoners are to be dealt with as desperate characters and will be shown no leniency whatever.

It is further learned that other precautions have been taken to make sure that the prisoners will have no chance to escape.

The party is running into severe cold weather, and it is possible that storms enroute may delay arrival in Phoenix a little.

Leave New Castle.
Headed by County Detective H. Martin Lee, a party containing five officers and an identifying witness left New Castle at 8:50 a. m. today, headed for Phoenix, Arizona, from where they will return Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and perhaps Tom Crawford, all wanted for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul here on December 27, 1929.

Man Shot In Leg, In Flight From Officer

Constable Shoots At Man Attempting To Flee And Hits Him In Leg

Earl Koonce of East Reynolds street, is in the New Castle hospital with his right leg broken, the result of a shot fired by Constable John Miller of the Fifth Ward, Friday evening, when Koonce attempted to escape arrest.

Some days ago Mrs. Koonce had laid a charge of aggravated assault and battery and surety of the peace against her husband in the court of Alderman Richard R. Lewis and on Friday afternoon had turned over a 32-calibre gun to the alderman.

Friday evening about 6:30 Constable Miller went to home of the Koonce family at the corner of Reynolds and Schuylkill, and served the warrant on Koonce.

"I'll go but I'll have to get my rubbers," said Koonce.

The constable permitted him time to get his rubbers, and as they started out onto the second story porch, Koonce started to struggle with the constable. In the struggle the man broke a railing on the porch and he partly fell and partly jumped onto the roof of a coal shed.

From there he jumped to the ground and as he did Constable Miller fired a shot to frighten him. Koonce did not stop and in an effort to halt him Miller fired again, but did not attempt to hit him.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Miss Alma Locke of 412 Highland avenue, is also the possessor of a fine specimen of the "Liberty Bell Plate" which was originated at the time of the Centennial held in Philadelphia in 1876, the hundredth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. It has been in the family ever since the time of the Centennial, having been presented to Mrs. John W. Locke, the grandmother of Miss Locke by a friend who attended the Centennial. It contains on its face, the names of the thirteen original states and under the names of each state, the names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence from the respective states.

Snow storm of the night was rather severe, and drifted snow to a depth of a foot or more in some places. The state highways were largely protected by snow fences, and the scrapers were soon at work. In the city, the traction company snow sweeper opened up the main thoroughfares early in the morning. The weather man says the spell of winter will stick around for a time.

New Castle's party of officers got away this morning to bring Mrs. Irene Schroeder and her pals back to New Castle, to face justice. And let it be the sentiment of the community that she shall get justice. There is no place for sentimentality in this case.

If this weather keeps up much longer it won't be a great while until the Neshannock freezes over. While it wasn't frozen this morning, it was full of broken ice cakes and these will jam up and freeze if it continues.

Young Pa New registered his first fall of the year this morning and it created plenty of laughter.

While driving was difficult and the weather temperature lowered considerably last night, the crowd in attendance at "Meet The Wife", senior class production, was as large as ever. The production, under Miss Clara M. Hartsuff's direction, may be rated as one of the best ever given.

Postmen were again obliged to put up with hard walking conditions this morning. Drifts were in their paths and the biting wind only added to their difficulties. Galoshes were turned up and buckled as tight as possible for the tramp through the snow piles.

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning are as follows:
Maximum temperature, 28.
Minimum temperature, 9.
Precipitation, 3.1 inches snowfall.
River stage, 8.8 feet and falling.

Pessimistic Outlook.
The positions can be reconciled in the three days before the conference actually assembles, but the chances are regarded pessimistically. LONDON, Jan. 18. — Their first day in London has convinced the American delegates to the five-power naval disarmament conference that the difficulties in the way of anything like complete naval agreements covering all categories are virtually insurmountable.

The positions can be reconciled in the three days before the conference actually assembles, but the chances are regarded pessimistically. In the end, most of the American delegates believe the conference's achievements will probably be limited to an extension of the battleship building holiday, which will enable the British and (Continued On Page Two)

Senior High School Players Score In "Meet The Wife"

Auditorium Filled By Large Crowd That Attends School Performance

GRADUATION WEEK FORMALLY OPENS

Talent in dramatics, it would seem, will never become exhausted at the New Castle senior high school and the most convincing proof that might be offered for this is last night's presentation of Lynn Starling's three-act comedy "Meet The Wife," given before a near-capacity crowd in the high school auditorium by players of the senior class.

For most of the cast the performance marked their initial bow to public view, but their acting was affected not in the slightest because of it. Each one filled their own role well (Continued On Page Two)

NEW CASTLE NEWS MAN ENROUTE TO PHOENIX, IN PARTY GOING FOR BANDITS

Bart Richards, member of the editorial staff of The New Castle News, is enroute with the party of local and state police officials, who are going to Phoenix, Arizona, to bring back to Lawrence County for trial, Mrs. Irene Schroeder and her two companions, held in the county jail at that place.

Mr. Richards is going at the expense of The New Castle News, representing this newspaper, for the express purpose of keeping New Castle News readers informed at all times, on the trip for the prisoners and their return to Lawrence county.

He will accompany the party enroute, will be with them in Phoenix, and will be with them until the hour they land in New Castle, on the return.

Attorney Gibson Is Charged With Irregularities

Petition To Disbar Well Known Attorney Presented To Court This Morning

COMMITTEE SETS FOURTH CHARGES

Claimed Gibson, As Attorney For Clients, Used Their Money Himself

Disbarment of Attorney Clyde Gibson as a member of the Lawrence County Bar Association is asked in a petition presented by former Judge W. E. Porter to Judges R. Lawrence Hildebrand and James A. Chambers this morning. The petition is based on alleged unprofessional conduct in which it is claimed that Attorney Gibson appropriated large sums of money belonging to his clients to his own use.

Attorney Gibson has fled from the county and at last accounts was in the state of Washington. Following the presentation of the petition, in which numerous charges were made, the court directed a rule to issue on Clyde Gibson to show cause why his name should not be stricken from the roster of attorneys. Service is to be had in Lawrence county if possible, and if papers cannot be served here, then service is to be had by publication in The New Castle News for three weeks. The rule is returnable on the first Monday of March.

The petition, which is quite lengthy, is signed by Attorneys Charles E. Davis, president of the Lawrence County Bar Association; J. Eder Bryan, secretary; William E. Porter, Roy M. Jameson and Homer C. Drake, prosecuting committee.

Look Oath as Attorney It is recited that on the second day (Continued On Page Five)

Frigid Weather In Mid-West Is Setting Record

Temperatures Ranging From Ten To Fifty Below Reported In Many Mid-West Towns

TWENTY-BELOW IN LAKES REGION

Severe Blizzard Accompanies Cold Blast Causing Suffering To Livestock

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Winter tightened its relentless grip on the Middle West and the Mountain States east of the Continental Divide today, smashing records for severity with temperatures ranging from ten to fifty degrees below zero.

In one of the swiftest mercury drops the Great Lakes region has ever known, thermometers here dropped from five above zero at 6 p. m. last night to 20 degrees below at 4 a. m. No immediate relief is in sight, said G. A. Donnel, government weather forecaster here, as thermometers continued their steady decline. Temperatures of 25 below were expected here before noon. Suffering was intense.

55 Below Zero
Temperature records fell everywhere throughout the West, the lowest was recorded at Basin, Mont., last night with a 55 below zero reading. International Falls, Minn., reported a record of 42 below. Des Moines, Ia., experienced 26 below zero weather, the mercury dropped to 20 below in Kansas and ten below in parts of Texas.

A severe blizzard accompanied the frigid blast in Western mountain states. Twenty persons are missing near Casper, Wyo., as that section suffered in the first blizzard in many years. Denver, Colo., and Flagstaff, Ariz., are held in the blizzard's grip. Livestock throughout Idaho, Montana and other foothills grazing states suffered heavy losses.

Fifty Families Marooned
American Legion men fought the sub-zero cold and a raging blizzard in their efforts to rescue fifty families marooned on the flood-swept lowlands in the Vincennes, Ind., area when a break occurred in the main (Continued On Page Two)

Pair Of Youths Clear Mystery In Rea Shooting

Confess To County Officers They Took Part In Hold-up Wednesday

IMPLICATE TWO MORE YOUNG MEN

Officers Now On Trail Of Other Pair—Guns In Hold-up Located

District Attorney John S. Powers stated this afternoon, that he was very hopeful of completing the rounding up of all persons alleged to be implicated in the murder of Clark Rea, eccentric sixty year old bachelor, killed Wednesday night, January 15 in his isolated home in Neshannock township, north of Coaltown, in a short time.

With the apprehension of two of the young men, Charles Llewellyn, aged 19, of English avenue, and William Grimm, aged 20, of McClelland avenue, through the efforts of L. B. McAnaney and Charles F. Barrett, special investigators for the district attorney and their ultimate confession early this morning, the mystery surrounding the murder of Clark Rea, has been cleared up, with the exception of the apprehension of Jesse Martin, Shadyside, and Jack McDevitt, 501 Uber avenue, whom Llewellyn and Grimm implicate as partners in the crime in their signed and witnessed confessions.

Hunt Two Others
Police authorities in East Liverpool, Youngstown and many other surrounding cities and towns have been notified, according to District Attorney Powers, and there is every reason to believe that the two young men wanted will be in custody in a short time.

Because of the fact that the confessions made by the two young men in custody here, District Attorney John S. Powers, this morning directed the release of E. H. Rea, brother of the murdered man, who had been held in the city and county jails since the morning after the murder, as a material witness and for the purpose of questioning him. The confessions corroborate the statements made by the brother from the start.

The brother returned to his home immediately upon being released. Special Investigators McAnaney and Barrett are continuing their efforts today and in checking up on McDevitt found that he had gone away from home on the night of the murder before supper and had not returned until after 9:30 o'clock that evening. They also found that he had secured his shoes, which he had left at a shoemaker for repairs, that day and that the rubber heels placed on the repaired shoes are the same as the imprint of the heel found on the window sill of the Rea home after the murder.

The father of the missing young man was in the office of the district attorney this morning in conference with the district attorney and expressed confidence that his son was not implicated in the terrible murder as claimed by the others now in custody. (Continued On Page Nine)

Though the streets outside are piled curb high, and the roofs are a blanket of white, and the cars are painted with frosty tones, and the walks are a jaunty sight, it doesn't bother a chap like me, when the Janitor doesn't forget, do I like the heat on a frosty eve, and the answer comes back, you bet. For the cost of coal doesn't bother me when the frost King goes into a dream, and daubs us up with a lot of ice, for you see me, we're using steam. So let the snow billow round the door, let the wind and the blizzard roar, its warm inside, (throw another scoop on), the weather is thirty-four.

River Survey Is Provided In House Measure

Local Project Is Included In Omnibus Bill To Be Presented In Congress

DISTRICT MAY BE ON WATER COMMITTEE

Funds for the survey of the proposed canalization of the Shenango, Beaver and Mahoning rivers will be provided in the $100,000,000 omnibus bill to be presented to congress soon. Chairman Dempsey of the House rivers and harbors committee stated in Washington yesterday, that the consideration of the project is to be given immediate attention.

It was also stated from Washington yesterday that a spokesman for the local waterway project will probably be named on the National Inland Waterway Advisory committee to be appointed in the near future by the department of commerce.

Action on the improvement of the three mentioned rivers was inaugurated here following the bill presented to congress by Congressman J. Howard Swick which asks that a survey of the rivers be made. An organization was proposed at a meeting of representatives of the various districts affected after which a permanent organization was formed and officers elected.

Senator David A. Reed of Pittsburgh has since introduced a measure in the senate similar to that proposed by Congressman Swick.

Decision to include the survey of the three local river channels in the appropriation bill is seen as a victory by proponents of the measure and indicated that favorable action will be forthcoming on the project.

Men's Class Hears Astronomer

The Men's class of the Third United Presbyterian church met Friday evening in the church parlors for their business and social session. After the business routine had been disposed of the four Griddle Brothers gave a musical entertainment, furnishing both pleasing vocal numbers and strangled instrument numbers.

S. S. Myers, a local astronomer gave an interesting talk on "Astronomy" clearly defining the difference between astronomy and astrology.

At the close of the entertainment the entertainment committee served refreshments. J. R. Francis is president of the class.

Change Is Made In Deputy Law

Owing to a change in the 1923 law, the deed of appointment of William Reynolds as chief deputy sheriff, which has been recorded in the register and recorder's office, gives him all the powers of the sheriff. Formerly it was necessary for the court to give these powers.

FRIGID WEATHER IN MID-WEST IS SETTING RECORD

Ice on White River west of Decker Chapel yesterday, flooding the area with ten feet of water.

Ten of the families that failed to get out of the district were forced to seek shelter in the Decker school building and the Methodist church.

It was feared that they could not long survive there without relief since many of them, including women and children, left their homes without food or blankets.

Gangs of laborers at Mount Carmel, Ill., fought all night in water waist deep to have the town's water supply, protecting the plant with sand bags.

Air Mail Crippled

From Memphis, Tenn., came reports that the St. Francis River flowing through Missouri and Arkansas has torn four gaps in one levee, adding to the difficulty of preventing floods in the lower Mississippi Valley.

Air mail lines continued their schedules westward, pilots braving the cold to carry mail through to the west coast. Due to blizzards, flights to the east and southeast were cancelled rather than compel pilots to fly blind through the storm areas.

NAVAL DELEGATES CONVINCED THAT PATH IS 'ROUGH'

American governments to save three-quarters of a billion dollars each would have spent the next ten years under the terms of the Washington treaty.

It can be stated most positively that the American position is strongly against the proposal to abolish capital ships which probably will be advanced by France and Italy, neither of which can afford them.

No Abolition.

Reflecting the attitude of the American general board, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, considered battleships still as the "infantry of the sea" and as the "core of the navy."

He was much relieved in talking with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to learn that the latter had not proposed flat and immediate abolition of capital ships as had been reported.

With regard to Premier MacDonald's hope of eventual reduction and perhaps abolition, the American position is one of academic sympathy, but considers this a long way off and dependent upon future developments.

In the meantime, the American delegates are prepared to examine sympathetically all projects for scaling down the size of ships and gun calibers.

Greet MacDonald.

One viewpoint which the Americans will combat with all its strength is the French contention that battleships are offensive vessels, while cruisers, destroyers and submarines are defensive ships. The American position on this thesis is that every ship possesses both offensive and defensive potentialities, and it is absurd to consider them otherwise.

The full American delegation was presented to Prime Minister MacDonald at 10 Downing Street at noon. Most of the other delegates from countries to be represented at the conference are arriving over the week-end. Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy arrived last night, and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France is due tonight. Premier Andre Tardieu, head of the French delegation, arrives tomorrow.

Secretary Stimson is expected to see Grandi and probably Tardieu at his country place in Middlesex on Sunday.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS SCORE IN "MEET THE WIFE"

to the delight of the large number that witnessed the play.

Of course "Meet The Wife" involves a wife—two wives at that. Act I finds the living room in Gertrude Lennox's home as the scene with Gertrude, or Miss Helen Weingartner, as the charming hostess. The time is 9:45 on a May morning, with plenty of astir. Acts II and III have the same scene with the time in each two hours later than the one preceding.

Harvey Lennox, Kenneth Myers by name, is Gertrude's husband, an up-and-going business man. He with the remaining members of the cast, with the exception of Thomas Johnson and Edgar Beal, first appear in the opening act, and the play gets under way.

Deep In Society

Briefly, Mrs. Lennox is in society, and deeply so. She makes it her duty to entertain Phillip Lord, namely: Edgar Beal, noted as a famous writer. Lord, who is later discovered to be the first husband of Mrs. Lennox, although she at first did not know it, was supposed to have been killed in the San Francisco earthquake. He was lost and given up for dead; Gertrude then married Harvey Lennox. Life ebbs along peacefully until Lord's visit to the Lennox home several years later, when his one-time wife at first sight recognizes him.

Doris Bellamy, the role filled by Miss Verlie Porter, was the daughter of Mrs. Lennox by her first marriage. Attractive and charming, Miss Bellamy soon takes up an acquaintance with Gregory Brown, newspaper writer from New York city. The part of Gregory is played by Thomas Johnson.

Victor Staunton, descendant of one of the community's finest families is the choice of Mrs. Lennox, for her daughter, Doris, and she persistently says so. The part of Staunton was played by Merwyn Jones and ably so.

Now we have the leading lights introduced, so the play goes on. Brown, the enterprising reporter for the New York Epistle is assigned to interview the noted Mr. Lord during his visit in Doris' town. Fortunately for him, Lord is invited to stop at the Lennox home, "Liberty Hall," and when Doris finds Gregory must get an interview she arranges one at their own home, an easy one too.

Reporter In Story

Mrs. Lennox is under the belief that young Mr. Brown is representing a New York newspaper, not to secure an interview with Mr. Lord but to "cover" the reception she was given for him. There is another reason for Gregory's interest in the household, too, Doris.

Finally, the last act brings the scene of departure for the notable guest and a revelation of Mr. Brown's real purpose there. Mrs. Lennox is surprised to learn of this because it was supposed due to Mr. Brown that Doris had been expelled from an exclusive school for exceptional girls, just a short time before. The fact is Mr. Brown was involved but nothing had happened other than the machine in which they were riding broke down one night while they were returning from an evening's entertainment, delaying her arrival at school.

So the reason for all the hum-bug that results.

Doris and Gregory have nevertheless slipped one over on the family, and Victor Staunton also, for when she introduced him they have already visited the altar, and are ready for their honeymoon trip. What a shock to Gregory and Mrs. Lennox it is. Lord departed soon after and for once and all time Mr. and Mrs. Lennox again join together happily for the closing curtain.

The maid parts for the Lennox household were played by Louise Fink and Jean Snyder, acting the roles of Alice and Katherine, respectively. These girls had but minor parts but nevertheless went through their roles with perfection.

Perform Well

Last night's production would rank as one of the outstanding plays ever given under the tutelage of Miss Clara M. Hartsuff, coach in dramatics at the senior high school. Repeatedly, Miss Hartsuff has been turning out players of ace-high dramatical ability and the play last evening was another. As leading lady, Miss Weingartner's ability could not have been surpassed. The way Kenneth Myers performed also delighted the audience as well as did that of Miss Porter. Merwyn Jones had a distinctive part and he filled the requirements perfectly. Thomas Johnson and Edgar Beal were also dignified in their acting, as some literary geniuses are.

During the intermissions and just prior to the opening curtain, the senior high orchestra favored with several numbers. Joe F. Replogle, head of instrumental music in the city schools directed.

The play last night marked the inauguration of the January, 1930 class commencement week program. Baccalaureate service occurs tomorrow night at the high school auditorium.

Deaths of the Day

Funeral services will be held from the residence Monday at 2 p. m. with Rev. W. H. Armstrong of the Wesleyan Methodist church in charge. Interment will be made in the Harmony Baptist cemetery.

Mrs. William Koehler.

Mrs. Sylvia Koehler, wife of William Koehler, 815 East Washington street, died Friday at 4 p. m. following a four week's illness in the hospital. She was the daughter of Thomas and Sara Shepherd and was born in New Wilmington, Pa., November 7, 1871 and has spent her entire life in the New Castle and Lawrence county. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Cagle and Mrs. Lee Greer of New Castle; two sons, Roscoe Koehler, of Alliquippa, and Clara of this city; a sister, Mrs. Frank Shaffer of Alliquippa, Pa.; and her step father, William Fouke of New Castle.

Funeral services will be held from the family residence Monday at 3 p. m. with Rev. F. E. Stough officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Ten Recall School Days 55 Years Ago

Guests Of Honor At Consolidated School Building Dedication At Hillsville

When the new consolidated school at Hillsville was dedicated on Thursday evening there were ten old timers on the program who had attended school at the little brick school house in Hillsville 55 years ago. They were all well advanced in years and received much attention at the hands of the assembly.

The ten whose recollections of school days 55 years ago were vividly recalled were Charles P. Ripple, Charles Reed, Ransom McCreary, C. W. Shingledecker, James Martin, Lettie Paden, Olive Davis, Lydia Stacy and John Bruce and Cyrus Martin.

Testimony Ends In Parks Trial

Glady's May Parks Is Only
Witness Called To Stand
By Defense

CASE IS NEARLY READY FOR JURY

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 18.—Taking of testimony at the trial of Gladys May Parks, accused of the murder of her two wards, Dorothy and Timothy Rogers, came to an abrupt end today.

Shortly after court was called to order this morning, the defense announced it had completed its case. Only one defense witness had been called—Miss Parks herself, who occupied the witness chair yesterday afternoon.

Immediately after the defense had announced it would call no more witnesses Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin summoned three rebuttal witnesses in quick succession. After they had testified, the case was at a close, except for closing arguments to the jury and the charge of the judge.

The action of the defense in calling no other witnesses than the titillated defendant herself was a distinct surprise.

Family Needs Him, Wants Out Of Jail

Charles John Presents Petition
For Parole Which Will Be Heard Soon

That his wife and nine children are very much in need of his support, is the plea of Charles John, whose petition for parole from the county jail was presented to court this morning. John was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Lawrence county jail for three months on a liquor charge. He has served about one third of his time, but owing to his desire to help his large family, he asks for his release. He also claims that his health is being affected by the worry over his family. The court has fixed January 25th as a time for hearing the case.

COMPLEXITIES OF RADIO

If federal radio control has proved anything it is that radio broadcasting and reception are amenable to natural laws only. They are above man-made laws.

Complaint of members of the senate interstate commerce committee that the federal radio commission has violated the radio control law in allocating wave lengths and broadcasting territory is met by the defense that literal compliance with the statute would be ruinous to reception.

What congress has attempted to do is to place arbitrary limitations on the traveling distances of the ether waves. The national legislators have authorized the radio commission to command the waves radiating from broadcasting stations to halt at a boundary fixed by act of congress. Allah is great and congress is powerful, but ether waves halt for no man.

Congress divided the country into five zones on a basis of theoretical equality. Short experience proved that radio zones are not born equal. The law fails to take into account natural conditions that promote or interfere with reception in various sections. Mississippi Valley reception is better than that of New England where granite absorption is an obstacle. Conditions on the plains are not the same as those in mountainous regions. Yet there is one law for all.

This is the problem before congress in considering proposed amendments to the radio control act.

RECORD HEALTH YEAR IN 1929

Dr. Appel, secretary of health, says that Pennsylvania made the best record in 1929 since the department was established a quarter century ago. Despite ravages of influenza last year the decrease in mortality from communicable diseases has been satisfactory. Even degenerative diseases, including heart afflictions, which showed an upward trend throughout the nation, did not register as high a toll here as might have been expected. Progress has been made in the campaign to prevent stream pollution, and the pure food laws have been enforced relentlessly.

But maternity and infancy deaths still constitute a menace which Dr. Appel deplors. While the state ranks with the average in the union, it is worse than the majority of European nations. This announcement will doubtless evoke some surprise when one considers what living conditions are abroad. Americans dislike to believe they lack the ruggedness of their foreign cousins, and physical competitions frequently prove we are not inferior—at least when our best specimens are matched against theirs. In the law of averages, however, we are at times deficient.

With our chief weakness now pointed out, it should be possible from our general success to find encouragement for attacking the remaining problem without relaxing efforts in other directions. No drastic program is required. The secretary asks merely for co-operation with the public health officials and common sense in the fundamentals of exercise, sleep and food.

INCOME—AND FAMILY LIFE

In an ideal economic state the income of every family would exceed fair living costs and leave something over for creating an estate. The ideal is far from attainment due to a high living standard, seasonal employment, unemployment and wages and salaries that fall short of meeting the demands of the ideal. To say that it is unattainable is another thing, something no one cares to believe or admit.

A National Industrial Conference Board survey finds that a couple with two minor children can live comfortably in Marion, O., for $1,442 a year and in New York City for $1,660. These are the average incomes in the two communities and represent the two extremes of the survey.

When the earnings of the husband are below the means or the family demands a living above the standard maintained by that mean, the wife usually seeks gainful occupation to augment the family income. This explains largely the entrance of woman into productive industry.

One income and one standard of living cannot be labeled adequate and applied to all families of a class. One family can live contentedly on an income another family on the same social plane would find woefully inadequate. What constitutes a high standard of living each must interpret for himself, and no two persons give the same definition.

Free country: One in which 100 people have 100 different ideas of what constitutes wickedness.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

FROM THE HEART.

One reads from Carlyle: "If a book come from the heart it will contrive to reach other hearts." And so it might be said that if words—daily words—come from the heart they contrive to reach other hearts. Few of us are fooled by words that merely come smoothly from the lips—no matter how appropriately and how graciously. No man can make great protestations of friendship and convince another that he is indeed a friend—unless he really is one. Words to convey ideas are extremely important. Their value can hardly be overestimated. Words to convey honest emotions are of little importance. It is by the essence of personality and by a certain manner that one "gets across" feelings.

RARE. Voltaire once remarked that rare books were not worth anything because if they were worth anything they would not be rare. This of course is a quite inaccurate remark. If this instance Voltaire was too much of an optimist. He for the moment assumed that intellectual taste would be made to think and your mind will be exercised.

everybody wants commonplace things whether in books or anything else.

COMMONPLACE. But speaking of the commonplace, most of life's vital attributes and certainly many of its sweetest and most satisfying experiences are entirely in the realm of the commonplace. Rain and sleep and food and rest are commonplace. Perhaps it was never said quite so well as by George Borrow who wrote more than one beautiful book many years ago: "Life is sweet brother. Do you think so? There's night and day brother, both sweet things. There's sun, moon and stars, brother, all sweet things. There's likewise a wind on the heath. Who would wish to die?"

PERHAPS SHOCKED. PERHAPS NOT. It has been said that the story of the world would be lost in forgetfulness if God had not provided man with a remedy in books. One who does not keep the mind active and excited by reading is sure of a flabby-headed old age. Pick and choose. Don't try to "keep up." Don't try to read everything. Read some things many times. Be entertained by some books; be instructed by others, master some others.

Bertrand Russell heavy thinker with a smooth, sure touch in writing presents the world with the ideas about Marriage and Morals in a new book under that title. Russell proceeds courageously along straight lines to his own conclusions. Liberal may not be your conclusions. Liberal in many ways is conservative in others. You may be shocked or you may not be. At least you will be made to think and your mind will be exercised.

Today

Ben Franklin's Day.
2,000,000 Prayers.
Earth's Ozone Blanket.
A Busy Birthday.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn., Inc.)

Here is good advice for youth or old age:
"Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of."
More good advice is this:
"He that goes a borrowing, goes a sorrowing."
And for a nation in which ninety old men out of a hundred die worth less than $100, this is valuable:
"A man may, if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone."

Those wise things were said by Benjamin Franklin, born 224 years ago Friday.
There is material for a thousand good sermons in Franklin's common-sense talks. Perhaps some will be preached next Sunday.

It may comfort Protestants, Hebrews, Mohammedans, Confucians, and Buddhists to know that next Saturday 2,000,000 good Catholics will pray for their conversion to the Catholic faith.

Following the recent important statement by the Pope to the effect that Protestants are turning toward the Catholic church, Cardinal Hayes, of the New York diocese, has instructed congregations in 444 churches under his control, to begin next Saturday an eight-day period of prayer, fasting and penance for the return of Anglicans and other Protestants, originally a part of the Catholic church, into the Catholic fold, and that all others of whatever race or religion may embrace Catholicism.

Increase in the number of converts to Catholicism will enable observers to form valuable estimates of the immediate effect of prayer on a great scale.

The widespread effort at conversion should offend nobody. Conversion will not occur unless it is God's will that it should occur. And no one can object to that.

Scientists of Smithsonian Institution hope to learn about magnetic disturbances and weather phenomena generally, by studying the earth's "ozone blanket."
That "blanket" is a thin layer of superior atmosphere, 30 miles above the earth's surface.

By measuring the thickness and contents of the earth's ozone blanket, it may be possible to tell what is happening on the sun, 93,000,000 miles away.

It might be possible also later to bring down some of that ozone, with its wonderful qualities for the improvement of the machine and blood. Future advertisements may read: "Ozone fresh from the ozone blanket every day."

Going up 30 miles from the earth's surface seems a great achievement.
But a microbe living on the face of an ordinary apple would do as much, if he rose from the surface of his apple as much as one one-hundredth part of an inch.
Thirty miles is much less than one two-hundredth part of the earth's diameter.

Clare Briggs Called Artist, Teacher, Preacher, Humorist

His Death Brings Tributes To His Wholesome Humor And Influence Upon Life Through Understanding Of Human Nature

Ranked as a preacher and a teacher as well as an artist and a humorist, the public acclaims the contributions of Clare Briggs, maker of cartoons, as death ends his career. He is credited with having taught the realities of life by the method of wholesome humor, and to have won the admiration of millions through his good-natured picturing of the amusing, every day happenings in the life of "Mr. and Mrs. Average American."

"The Briggs cartoons were drawn," according to the R O A N O K E WORLD-NEWS, "with a fidelity to detail as well as with a boldness of stroke that endeared them to those who looked for good drawing. In the field of conception and execution, his work has been unique." His drawings were furnished to many newspapers not only in this country, but in some foreign countries, where their expressions of American humor were highly enjoyed.

"Within a select coterie of caricaturists," says the SPRINGFIELD ILLINOIS STATE REGISTER, "we find a special quality of human sympathy which amounts to real artistry in this field, an entertaining and even inspiring influence in the workaday program of modern living. Outstanding in this group was Clare Briggs."

Although he often had the experience of receiving letters from persons accusing him of having capitalized their own peculiarities, that merely emphasized the realism of his effort, and it was apparent that these little absurdities were common to all people and expressed in a vein of the kindest satire.

"He had a Mark Twainish understanding of life, and love of everyday humans," recalls the G R A N D RAPIDS PRESS. "Atop of this he had a wizard's memory for the tastes and smells that made boys lick their chops, the look of things to the right, ten twelve year old, the thousand and one games of childhood's halcyon days, the innermost feelings of both country and city lads in the wholesome and harmless 'gangs' of years ago. With this insight, he could make a single picture steal a whole priceless episode out of life and tell the entire story."

His humor was of the sort which brings a bit of mist before the eyes even as we chuckle," suggests the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE. "An excellent kind of humor, indeed, the kind that Dickens employed, and that Briggs did not go in for; the sophistication; nor did he become the 'city feller'."

His work was Main Street, and since the country is Main Street, therein lies the value of his work. His creatures were always "folks." A kindly, smiling satirist was Briggs, a wholesome and delightful influence in the daily life of America for two decades.

"Briggs gave the country, at a time when America needed it most," declares the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH, "a touch of home life that did much to counteract the arguments of those who were urging that home fires were breaking down and dissolving under the pressure of modern life. By the presentation of common experiences of life of past and present, he taught the lesson, all unconsciously perhaps, that while dress and customs may change, while the ways of one generation may not be those of another, human nature is the same now as it was a hundred years ago. He dressed his sermons in smiles, but they were sermons nevertheless. He garbed his lessons in the gay habitiments of laughter, but they were lessons just the same."

Enumerating his household words, the titles of his favorite products, "When a Feller Needs a Friend," "Ain't it a Grand and Glorious Feeling?" "Somebody is Always Taking the Joy Out of Life" and "Mr. and Mrs."—the SIOUX FALLS ARGUS-LEADER states that Briggs "brought smiles into the lives of millions and frequently pointed to a more constructive value with telling effect." The GREAT FALLS TRIBUNE remarks: "The really great artist, whether he is a cartoonist, a painter, a writer, a musician, or an actor, is one who can portray life truthfully; one who can find something extraordinary in the ordinary." Briggs did this better than most of his contemporaries.

"He was as much a teacher," contends the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, "as any college instructor, and he served a much larger clientele. The world is indebted to such men. The Da of Rest Spanned his life with memories of childhood in many minds. Mr. Briggs had a place in our hearts and was our benefactor, friend and teacher. Sometimes he preached at us from his newspaper pulpit and the experience was good for our souls. Certainly he made life happier and brighter for thousands." The CHATTANOOGA NEWS points to the influence of "Mr. and Mrs." holding that "it was exceptional, because of the gentleness of his humor and the friendly and affectionate aspect it showed of family life in these United States." That paper adds: "There was nothing grotesque about it, and nothing common or vulgar. Sweet in its spirit, amusing in its mirroring of the average family, it was a help to the sanity of American life."

"He contributed much to the sunshine that lightens the gravity and relaxes the tension of American life," avers the SYRACUSE HERALD, which also points out that "in the buoyancy of his humor, in his preference for the pictorial subjects that arouse innocent merriment without needlessly exposing to ridicule, in the human sympathies that shone through his genial burlesque, he was in a class by himself." The LONG BEACH PRESS-TELEGRAM offers the tributes that he was "a great humorist and a clever artist," that "his sketches carried no sting," and that "his memory will rest easier in the affections of numberless admirers."

"He talked to the mass in the language of universal experience," says the CANTON DAILY NEWS, which also recalls: "Often his cartoons had an effect not unlike coming unexpectedly upon a portrait of one's self. Certainly he knew the secret of the much-discussed 'human interest' which is commonly held the basis of public appeal." The BAY CITY TIMES states that he "knew life as it was lived both in the provinces 35 years ago and as it is lived in the metropolis of today." The BELLOIT DAILY NEWS of his native State of Wisconsin emphasizes the host of friends that he had made during his successful career.

The shadow proves that the sun is shining. Nothing that is right is ever permanently defeated. The anonymous letter proves the writer is afraid of you. No real friend ever requires an explanation. The detour is better than the main road or there would be no detour. The longest and darkest night is always followed by a sunrise. Even Jesus of Nazareth was misunderstood by his best friends.

For what youth needs is simple truth. To serve it in its time of youth. And not the wisdom of the sage. Designed to comfort wearied age.

A tired old man is no fit guide. For youth which walks with healthy stride. And tired old thoughts, worn thin by pain. To serve the need of youth are vain.

Old Fifty-nine should try to be As gay of heart as Twenty-three. And think in terms of young desires To speak the wisdom youth requires.

Annual Welfare Sessions Ended

Edwin D. Solenberger, Philadelphia Chosen President of Welfare Association

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., Jan. 18.—The more than 60 delegates who have been in Erie for the past week attending the 22nd annual conference on social welfare were on their way home today following the election of officers and the closing banquet last night.

The selection of the meeting place for next year was left to the executive committee. Uniontown and Philadelphia were conceded to be the leading choices.

Newly elected officers include: Edwin D. Solenberger of Philadelphia, president; Rev. H. J. Gilbert, Pittsburgh, first vice president; Miss M. Alice Hill, Harrisburg, second vice president; Harold P. Dundon, Erie, third vice president; Conrad Van Hyning, Pittsburgh, secretary; Miss Margaret Brooks, Pittsburgh, treasurer; Miss Eleanor May, Wilkes-Barre, Miss Franklin R. Wilson, Muncie, and Elizabeth G. Martin, Stroudsburg, assistant secretaries; Rabbi Max C. Currie, Erie, Arthur M. Dewees, Harrisburg, and Howard M. Slutes, Johnstown, executive committee members. Julia C. Lathrop of Rockford, Ill., assessor for the child welfare committee of the League of Nations and former secretary of the children's bureau in the United States department of labor made the principal address at the banquet last night.

of July, 1906, Attorney Gibson was admitted to practice in the Lawrence county courts and took an oath of office. On September 12, 1929, the Lawrence County Bar Association received a communication from judges of the local court relative to the alleged conduct of Gibson. The communication purported to disclose unprofessional and unethical conduct on the part of Attorney Gibson. The communication was referred to the committee on offenses, consisting of Attorneys W. K. Huges, William McElwee Jr., and Frank A. Hoyer. The committee investigated and found that the information was sufficient for the filing of formal charges. The Bar Association received and adopted the report of the committee.

On November 14, 1929, it was resolved that disbarment proceedings be instituted and a committee was appointed to formulate the necessary proceedings. Compliance with the proceedings was required by William E. Porter, Roy M. Jamieson and Homer C. Drake as a committee.

Took Widow's Money

It is set forth in the report that Attorney Clyde Gibson on April 8th, 1929, received $1,000 and on October 16th, 1929, received a total of $1,700, which was life insurance payable by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to Elizabeth Spence, upon the life of her husband, Hugh Spence, who had recently died. There was a mortgage of $2,000 upon the home of Elizabeth Spence, widow, in which she and her children lived. She told Gibson that she desired to have the money applied to the payment of the mortgage. Gibson advised against this, it is alleged, and advised her to permit him to loan the money, to which she agreed. Gibson, it is claimed, never loaned the money on mortgage or other security, but converted the same to his own use.

Never Received Money

On December 6, 1924, Gibson, acting as attorney for Sylvester Gibson, and Sara R. Gibson of Shenango township, Mercer county, received from them the sum of $1,000 to be loaned to Albert Johnson on mortgage on property in Nesheim township, Lawrence county, Pa. On December 9, 1924, executed one bond in the sum of $1,000, payable to Sylvester Gibson in one year and a similar bond to Sara R. Gibson, and one mortgage in the sum of $2,000, payable to Sylvester and Sara Gibson, to secure the payment of the $1,000 mortgage. Mrs. Sara Gibson afterwards called at Attorney Gibson's office and secured the two bonds, and was advised by him that it was unnecessary that the mortgage be recorded. Subsequently interest was paid to the Gibsons until September 14, 1929, when Sylvester Gibson received a check for $60 on the Lawrence Savings and Trust company for six months interest, check being drawn by Clyde Gibson. The check was deposited at West Middlesex and went to protest when it was presented to the local bank, due to lack of funds of Clyde Gibson.

Later Sylvester Gibson and Sara Gibson sought out Albert L. Johnson and learned that neither he nor his wife had ever received the $2,000, or any part thereof. Upon investigation it was found that the mortgage had never been recorded and that Clyde Gibson had converted the $2,000 to his own use.

Took Severe Loss

In 1921 Mrs. Lenora Pomeroy widow of Robert P. Pomeroy paid to Attorney Clyde Gibson $6,500 to be loaned of mortgages. The bonds and mortgage were to be taken in the name of Lenora Pomeroy. About 1927 Lenora Pomeroy became physically unable to transact business and on June 24, '27 executed to her daughter, Lida P. Street, a power of attorney to attend to her business.

Attorney Gibson is alleged to have told Lida P. Street that he desired to make a loan for Lenora Pomeroy to George Arrow in the sum of $300. Lida P. Street paid Gibson the $300. Out of the $6,500 paid by Lenora Pomeroy to Gibson, he loaned the sum of $300 to William B. Keller and Robert J. Keller on bond and mortgage, and $400 to Dominico Tranazzo and wife on bond and mortgage. Dominico Tranazzo paid to Gibson $100 on the mortgage, which was paid to Lenora Pomeroy by Gibson.

None of the $6,500 received by Gibson from Lenora Pomeroy, nor the $300 received by him from Lida P. Street, was loaned for the use of Lenora Pomeroy upon bond and mortgage, except the $300 to Kellers and $400 to Tranazzo. Keller's paid their loan of $300 and Tranazzo paid the balance of $300 to Attorney Gibson. None of the $300 procured from Lida Street was loaned to George Arrow.

$5,900 of the $6,500 paid to Gibson by Lenora Pomeroy; the $300 paid to him by Lida P. Street; the $300 paid to him by the Kellers, and the $300 paid to him by Tranazzo, making a total of $6,700, has neither been loaned for the use of Lenora Pomeroy, or returned to her, but has been converted by Clyde Gibson to his own use.

Quinn Loses $1,500

On January 17, '21, Clyde Gibson received $2,000 from William J. Quinn to be loaned on bond and mortgage to the Louise Coal, his wife. Bond and mortgage, payable to Quinn in the sum of $2,000 was executed by Conti's. The mortgage was recorded, $900 of the principal debt was paid to Gibson and by him paid to Quinn. Later they paid Gibson $1,500 in full for balance.

None of this $1,500 has been paid to Quinn and it is claimed Gibson converted it to his own use.

A $12,000 Deal

Micheline Kepinska of Cleveland, O., was the owner of property in the Eighth ward, New Castle, subject to $5,500 mortgage in favor of Hettie C. Dobinski. Fred Sparona and wife, Mary, agreed to purchase the property for $12,000. They employed Gibson to examine the title. Gibson said he would do so at once, but as they were to pay cash they had better leave the money with him. Sparona turned over $12,000, payable to the order of Gibson. It was to be used to pay the mortgage and the purchase money as soon as the title was found to be all right.

The Sparonas heard nothing of Gibson for several weeks and came to see him. He claimed he had found a defect in the title. After this the Sparonas saw him frequently but he always put them off with excuses. Becoming alarmed Sparonas engaged Martin and Martin, who took up with Gibson the matter of re-paying the money advanced to him. Gibson admitted that he had used the money to pay other obligations, but did not remember to whom he had paid it. After persistent efforts Martin and Martin finally received the money from Gibson.

Commonwealth Case.

In the case of the Commonwealth against E. H. Hunt, for violation of the Snyder Act, Hunt employed Gibson as his attorney. Defendant did not appear for sentence and his bond of $15,000, with Nicholas Green as bondsman was forfeited. Green turned over $15,000 to Gibson to pay the recognizance. Later John P. Lockhart, counsel for the county commissioners, went after Green for the $15,000 bond. Green told Lockhart that he had paid the money to Gibson. The latter did not turn it over to the county. Green presented a petition to court setting forth the facts and asking that the name and title of the person who had received the money be ascertained from payment of the bond the second time. In the meantime Gibson paid $500 to the county commissioners, leaving $10,000 due. Afterwards a check for $1000 was given by Gibson, but it was returned from the bank for lack of funds. Later it was made good.

Sheriff Sale Case.

While acting as attorney for Costa Conti, Gibson took title at sheriff's sale, subject to a mortgage of $2,000 to the State Capital Savings and Loan Association, to a tract of land in Union township. The title was in fact taken by Gibson in trust for Costa Conti. Later he executed and delivered a mortgage to John W. Keast in the sum of $2,000 to procure the money to pay the State Capital mortgage. Instead of paying the State Capital or Costa Conti the $2,000, Gibson converted the $2,000 to his own use. Later the Keast mortgage was reduced by payments made by Gibson to $663.25.

Thereafter Gibson in violation of the trust to Costa Conti and acting as attorney for Anna L. Metz executed a mortgage to her for $2,500 on the property. None of the proceeds of the last mentioned mortgage was applied to the balance due the State Capital, nor John W. Keast, but was converted by Gibson to his own use.

Held Onto Money.

At December term, 1929, Harry J. Clark caused a fi fa to be issued against Robert Mackie upon a judgment for $500. Mackie employed Gibson in the case and told him that he had a set-off of $200 against the judgment. Whereupon Gibson told him that he would present a petition to court but that it would be necessary that Mackie place $255 in his hands for the petition could be presented. Later Gibson demanded $145 to take care of accruing interest.

Liberal Candidate For Brazil Chief

Mr. Getulio Vargas, governor of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, and candidate of the Liberal Party for the presidency of the republic, is said to be the choice of a great percentage of the voting population. The state of Minas Geraes, with a population of more than eight million persons, is said to be backing him.

as he said. Mackie paid the $500 and the $145 to Gibson. The money was ordered paid into court after presentation of the petition but Gibson did not pay it in. Gibson retained the money until Mackie got another attorney, who finally succeeded in getting the money from Gibson.

An Estate Case.

While acting as attorney for S. J. Thompson, executor in the estate of Samuel J. Thompson, the executor paid Gibson $83.23 to pay the inheritance tax in the case. Gibson did not pay the tax but converted the money to his own use.

While acting as attorney for Frank Adams, executor in the estate of Alexander A. McKee, the executor paid Gibson $158.90 with which Gibson was to pay the inheritance tax. He did not pay the tax but converted the money to his own use.

Ed Beckwith, administrator in the estate of Ella Beckwith, paid to Clyde Gibson $840 with which he agreed to pay taxes. He did not pay the tax but converted the money to his own use. Afterwards Beckwith collected $300 of the money from Gibson.

J. Carl Wilkison was ordered to pay doctor bills and lying in expenses of his wife Dr. E. U. Snyder. Wilkison paid Gibson $30 which he agreed to turn over to Dr. Snyder, but instead converted the money to his own use.

The petition concludes. "Attorney Clyde Gibson left Lawrence county, November 20, 1929, and his present whereabouts is unknown. All the averments made in the petition are made on information received and believed to be true.

"Your petitioners, showing that Gibson has misbehaved in office and has violated his oath as an attorney, pray that your honorable court make an order and decree that Clyde Gibson be removed from his office as attorney and that his name be stricken from the roll of attorneys at law in your honorable court, and that he be subjected to such other penalties as have heretofore been allowed in such cases by the laws of the commonwealth."

The above list includes only the cases in which the committee has made a thorough investigation.

President Hoover Has Not Talked To Secretary Stimson

American Delegates To Naval Conference And Hoover Have Not Communicated

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Hoover has not been in communication with Secretary of State Stimson or with any other member of the American disarmament delegation since they left here nine days ago for New York to board the S. S. George Washington for London, a White House announcement said today.

George Akerson, chief presidential secretary, denied reports published today by some newspapers that Mr. Hoover and Stimson had talked over the trans-Atlantic telephone. "The President has not been in communication with any of the delegates since they left, by telephone or cables," Akerson said.

The TOWN DOCTOR

(The Doctor of Towns)

Says:

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT NEW CASTLE?

All over the country, newspapers and magazines have published "What Do You Know?" columns, cross-word puzzles, "What's Wrong Here?" departments and such, the working out and solving of which has not only proven good sport for millions but has had an educational value as well.

If you enjoy such puzzles, queries and other tests of mind and memory, see how many of the following questions you can answer:

What was the population of New Castle in 1900; in 1910; in 1920? What is the division of population of nationality in New Castle?

How many acres of playgrounds per 1000 population in New Castle?

What kind of water does New Castle have, what is the source of supply and how is it treated by your use?

How many school seats per 1000 populations? Classification of schools?

What per cent of total homes in New Castle that do not have modern conveniences?

How many miles of paved streets in New Castle? What per cent is this of the total?

What is the largest industry; or what do most of the people do to make a living?

How many people are employed in the largest industry? What was the total payroll of manufacturing plants in 1928?

What was the total value of products made in 1928? in 1929? Which is of the greater value to the town, city payroll or farm trade?

What was the income per acre of farmers in 1928? Was it above or below national average?

How much retail business did local merchants do in 1928? In 1929?

How many retail store failures, or how many stores quit business in 1929?

Why, in your estimation, did these people go out of business? What is the per capital bank deposit, including savings accounts?

What is made in New Castle that is not made elsewhere? In your work and play, what do you do now that you did in exactly the same way ten years ago?

What is New Castle doing now in conduct of city affairs, advertising and promotion that it did NOT do ten years ago? What is Civic Pride?

What is the purpose of a Chamber of Commerce? A Service Club?

If you formerly did business with a particular store or merchant and do not now do so, why did you change?

What thing or product would in your opinion best typify New Castle?

What do you think would be the best slogan or motto for New Castle?

If you can answer all of the above correctly, you would make a good salesman for New Castle. If you cannot answer you should start now to find out. Ask your neighbors, fellow workers, and see how much they know. Ask until you find out, for every citizen should know the true answers to every one of these as well as other questions.

Maybe you think it isn't important; that it does not make any difference whether or not you know such things; you may say that such information is for civic club heads and city officials.

Sure! They should have it, by all means! But more and more industries seeking new locations and heads of families interested in making a change of residence feel you out, and the records show that many a community fails to get a new factory—that interested persons seeking new homes went elsewhere just because Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen proved their disinterest in the community by not knowing what they should know about it.

No industry, no thinking head of a family, is inclined to look favorably upon a community the people of which are disinterested.

Your community is your business—and IT PAYS TO KNOW YOUR BUSINESS!

Irene Turns To Religion.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 18.—Irene Schroeder, blonde gunwoman held here awaiting extradition to Pennsylvania for the killing of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway Patrol, today had turned to religion for comfort in her hour of need.

It became known that she had written a letter in answer to one received from a "Mr. and Mrs. Dawson," declaring that "if I had the courage to get down on my knees and pray, God would forgive me, because God is just and he is merciful."

At the beginning of the letter she thanked the mysterious couple who signed the letter to her with only their names, omitting their address from their letter which bore a Phoenix postmark. She then said:

"I am very glad you prayed for us and hope you would please continue to do so. We certainly need someone to pray for us. It sure is a nice thing for you and your wife to be able to go to prayer meeting together."

Likes Trigger Woman Title.

The letter to "Mr. and Mrs. Dawson" was signed "The Trigger Woman," a name given her following the shooting of Paul and apparently to her liking. This is the first time she has publicly admitted that the appellation was applicable to her.

Meanwhile Glenn Dague, her alleged sweetheart who is also held here together with a second man believed to be Thomas Crawford, Mrs. Schroeder's brother, had admitted that his real name was Dague. Although he had been identified as the man who left his home in Wheeling, W. Va., to travel a road of crime with the blonde gunwoman, he had previously steadfastly denied his identity.

Today, however, under a barrage of questions from Sheriff C. H. Wright who captured the trio Tuesday, he admitted, "yes, I am Glenn Dague."

The trio were arraigned in court yesterday and held under $15,000 bail each.

ROBBERY REPORTED BY LOCAL CONCERN

Police were called to the office of New Castle Duntile Company located at 1409 Moravia street this morning to investigate a robbery said to have occurred there during the night.

Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch made the investigation and found that entrance had been effected by breaking a rear window. The place had been ransacked and $1.08 in an old pocketbook stolen.

Embezzler Nabbed By Ohio Officers

Connecticut Man Accused Of $100,000 Embezzlement Taken Into Custody

(International News Service) SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 18.—A man who gave his name as James Atkinson Smith had today confessed to the embezzlement of $100,000 in Hartford, Conn., last October, according to local police, who arrested the man in a traction station here several days ago.

A telephone conversation with Hartford police confirmed the man's story and Detective J. B. Hickey of that city is en route here to take Smith to Hartford for trial.

In a statement to police Smith said he was a curb broker in Hartford and was a victim of the October stock market crash. Using funds over his own with which to cover his shortages, when the market failed to recover, he closed his office rather than face a charge of embezzlement, police said.

According to a telegram received here, Smith is also wanted in Wheeling, W. Va., on a charge of issuing a forged $75 check.

PAYS FINE FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Arthur Shorts was arrested yesterday by Officers Criswell and Longstreth, when found in a drunken condition and with a bottle containing some moonshine. He paid a fine of $10 when he appeared before the mayor on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

State Educator To Give Address

Dr. F. H. Reiter, State Director Of Special Education, Speaks Here Monday

Dr. F. H. Reiter, Director of Special Education of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, will give an illustrated lecture in the senior high school auditorium Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Woman's club. Dr. Reiter's subject will be "Pennsylvania's Program for Special Education," showing what is being done throughout the state for pupils who are in need of special education because of abnormal conditions. Elementary teachers and principals of the city schools will be in attendance. Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the New Castle schools, states that there are approximately 250 children of this type in New Castle, who are in need of special instruction. These include blind children, deaf mutes and those mentally deficient.

Make Reports Of Auto Accidents

Police Investigate Numerous Traffic Accidents On Streets Of City

H. C. Black of 219 Fairmont avenue, reported to the police Friday that he was going north on South Mill street when he was struck by a car.

Mr. Black was unable to stop his car and the man was knocked to the ground. The man got up himself and refused to go to a doctor or tell who he was. He was apparently uninjured.

A. W. Patterson of 928 Marshall avenue, was enroute east on Long avenue, when his car stalled on the Long avenue hill and started down the hill backwards.

Another car had backed down in much the same manner and had stopped crossways on the street.

Mr. Patterson's machine backed down and into this machine, which bore Pennsylvania license 9762N, doing some damage to the latter car.

Carl C. Cochran of West Pittsburg, was enroute south on Liberty street and turning onto Madison avenue, when his machine was in a collision with another car, the license number of which he failed to secure.

Bert Buckley of 1048 Beckford street, was driving the truck of the New Castle Grocery company east on Lawrence street at South Jefferson street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 139DC going south on Jefferson street made a right turn into Lawrence street and skidded into truck.

Some damage was done.

R. W. Piltzer, of 1005 North Beaver street, was enroute north on Mill street at an alley, when a car going south on Mill street made a left hand turn into this alley and Piltzer ran into this machine. Slight damage was done.

Throda Castle of 494 Neshannock avenue, reported that his machine was parked on North Liberty street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 43706 going south on North Liberty street ran into and damaged his car.

Harry Frank of 11 East Moody avenue, reported that he was waiting for a green light at Madison avenue, when a truck of Bloom, Rosenblum and Klein driven by Tom Bevan ran into and damaged the rear of his machine.

J. J. Smith of 1230 Huron avenue, reported that he had his car parked on Wallace avenue when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 38152, and owned by Flora Teser going north on Jefferson street, turned onto Wallace avenue and hit and damaged his car.

The BRK Company of South Croton avenue, reported that its machine was parked on East Washington street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license B4447 ran into and damaged its machine.

Miss Irene Perry Wins Essay Award

Adjudged Winner Of Daughters Of 1812 Contest For High School Seniors

Miss Irene Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira P. Perry of 711 Cunningham avenue was announced the winner of the essay contest under the auspices of the New Castle Perry Chapter of Daughters of 1812 at the senior high. Miss Perry wrote on the subject "Freedom of the Seas" and after careful judging by Colonel D. H. McQuiston, Dr. E. B. Russell and Mrs. Frances Foulke Russell, all of New Wilmington, Miss Perry was returned the winner yesterday out of a group of ten of the best essays written by members of the mid-year graduating class.

For her effort Miss Perry will receive five dollars. The Daughters of 1812 offer a similar prize to the student of each graduating class who writes the best essay on a subject which the organization selects. Miss Perry won over 158 classmates who will receive diplomas on January 24.

Correct this sentence: "If the maid neglects part of her work," said the wife, "I do it myself instead of leaving it for her next day."

Brotherhood Is Formed By Men Of Croton M. E. Church

Organization Effected To Work For Civic Righteousness And Improvement

Men of the Croton M. E. church, 105 in number, met in the church dining room last evening, when an organization to be known as the Second Mile Brotherhood of the Croton M. E. church was formed.

It will be the purpose of the organization to work for civic righteousness and civic improvement in their community, and with the enthusiasm displayed last evening, should make its influence for good in the community, strongly felt.

A short program was carried out following the fine dinner prepared and served by the women of the church, readings being given by Ruth and Betty Joshua; Miss Eve Nicklin, deaconess of the church; and Mrs. C. S. Joshua.

The organization voted to meet on the second Friday of each month, and an effort will be made to secure Dr. Clarence E. Allen, pastor of the First M. E. church of Erie as the principal speaker at the meeting in February.

A nominating committee of E. J. Switzer, C. J. Kenchan, Thomas Hinkson and Foster McEwen was appointed by the pastor, Rev. C. S. Joshua, who acted as chairman of the evening.

This resulted in the election of the following officers:

President—Frank L. Doerr.
Vice President—Henry Lehman.
Secretary—James Twaddle.
Treasurer—Clarence V. Pyle.
Chairman of Civic Righteousness, Charles J. Kenchan.
Chairman of Evangelistic committee—Samuel Leonard.
Chairman on Civic Improvement—George M. Gibson.

Irene's Husband Not In California

Has Not Been In Pittsburgh, California, Since Last May, News Learns

Homer Schroeder, husband of Irene Schroeder, said to be in Pittsburgh, California, has not been in that city since last May according to a telegram received by The News from Ray R. Perry, a former New Castle man, now a foreman with the Columbia Steel company in Pittsburgh, Cal.

In an effort to locate Schroeder, The News asked Mr. Perry to investigate his whereabouts and the following telegram was received.

New Castle, Pa.
Homer Schroeder left here about May 12, last. Try cold road departments of Gary and Baltimore tin mills. Sorry.

Local Talent Will Be Heard On Radio Tonight

Miss Hazel Louise Campbell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Campbell, E. Moody avenue, is a member of the Oberlin choir, of Oberlin College, which will broadcast a program over station WTAM, Cleveland, tonight.

The program will be broadcast from that station, during the hour, 10:00 to 11:00 p. m. During that hour, the Oberlin College Men's Glee club and other musical organizations of the college will also give selections. Several other local people will take part in the program, it is thought.

The most economical device to relieve congestion in the pen, is a slip noose.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Be Thou exalted, O God. While our fears and hopes have struggled together, Thou hast dealt with us wondrously. We, therefore, witness to Thy goodness. Knowing how feeble we are in things high and how strong we are in things prone to the world, we do not desire to stand in Thy way. Draw us into life deeper, sweeter, and more full of knowledge; lift us to the realm of the grace of God. Turn our affections steadfastly toward Thee; and O Thou blessed savor of love, sympathy, and patience, be the bread of life to our hunger and all in all to the sanctity of human life. Amen.

Former New Castle Boy Is Now Superintendent Of Big Steel Plant

Students of the New Castle high school back in 1907 and 1908 are pleased to hear that their former fellow student, H. Clayton Jones, is now the superintendent of the Minnesota Steel company plant at Duluth, Minn.

In his high school days Mr. Jones was a football star and was a member of the teams that saw Griz Trelfall, Bill Ferver, Jimmy Carson, Billy Eroe and other old time stars in action. Mr. Jones was also a figure in high school dramatic productions. As a boy he carried newspapers in this city and has risen to his present position through ability and grit.

H. Clayton Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, No. 424 Epworth street, this city. Clayton Jones graduated from the local high school in 1908. He started with the Carnegie Steel company after his graduation as apprentice machinist. Completed his apprenticeship at the New Castle Works of the Carnegie Steel company and left there in 1913 going with the Minnesota Iron and Steel company at Duluth, Minn., a machinist. He later had supervision of construction work at this plant and when the plant was started was made assistant master mechanic. Later on he was made master mechanic and from that was promoted to general superintendent. His progress has been rapid for now at the age of only 41 years he is in charge of the plant at Duluth, Minn.

Attorney Denies Pressing Charges Against Capone

United States Attorney Says No Truth "Al" Capone Faces Arrest In Chicago

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson today denied reports that he had issued orders for the arrest of "Scarface Al" Capone upon the gang chieftain's release from a Philadelphia penitentiary.

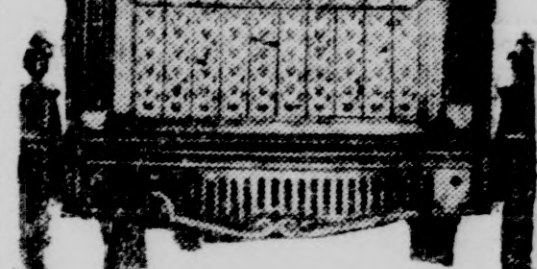

Capone may be released in two weeks after serving a year sentence for gun toting.

"Although the contempt of court proceedings instituted against Capone about one year ago are still pending," Johnson said, "the Federal government has given no indication as to what it will do with Capone."

Before Capone's imprisonment Capone was summoned to return to Chicago from his Florida estate to testify before a Federal grand jury here. Capone finally appeared after pleading that he was ill, and was cited for contempt of court due to his delay.

The gang chieftain's Philadelphia sentence came before the charges were pressed.

Senate Rejects Bounty Proposal To Sugar Growers

Insurgents Proposal To Give Bounty To American
Sugar Producers

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—After refusing an increase in sugar tariffs, the senate Friday rejected a proposal to pay a bounty to American sugar producers.

The double blow completely defeated the Republican drive to give greater tariff protection to the sugar industry in the continental United States against free trade Philippine imports and the dutiable Cuban imports. There was but one hope left for the sugar interests—in a plan of Senator Smoot (R) of Utah to secure another vote later.

On an increase existing duties to $2.00 per hundred pounds on Cuban imports.

Public Saved Big Amount

The Democratic-Insurgent Coalition which defeated a higher sugar tariff declared the American consuming public had been saved $54,000,000 a year.

The bounty meanwhile was rejected 22 to 53.

The insurgents proposed the bounty plan, suggesting 44-100ths of a cent per pound, nine tenths to the grower and one tenth to the sugar mill. The Democrats deserted them and the Republican organization voted almost solidly against it. The support came almost exclusively from the so-called sugar states.

Those favoring the bounty were sixteen Republican, five Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite. They were: Republicans—Allen, Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Frazier, Hatfield, Howell, Johnson, Jones, LaFollette, McMaster, Norbeck, Norris, Nye and Schall, 16.

Democrats—Broussard, Dill, Kendrick, Ramsdell and Wheeler, 5.
Farmer-Laborite—Shipstead, 1.

Debate Broussard Proposal
The senate then launched into a debate over the Broussard proposal to levy the tariff against all imports from the Philippines in excess of 600,000 tons a year. Senator Broussard (D) of Louisiana, its author, charged American sugar interests were being destroyed by cheap Philippine importations. He warned the senate that the Philippine sugar crop would be increased from year to year until American sugar growers were ruined because of the cheap competition.

Heart Broken Boy Ends Own Life

Leaves School Class For Laboratory When He Shoots Himself

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 18.—"I'm heart-broken," 14-year-old Florio Deblasio, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Deblasio of Dunbar, near here, told a girl friend when he returned from lunch for yesterday afternoon session, as she noticed his dejected look and inquired the cause.

"Give me a piece of it then," she laughed, but he only turned a black look upon her.

Soon afterwards he asked to be excused from the class room and a few minutes later was found on the floor of the laboratory with a bullet wound in his head. He died shortly before midnight, after an operation proved futile. No cause for the boy's act could be assigned. He had had no trouble at home or in school. He was regarded as a brilliant student and was on the honor roll of his class.

AUTO DRIVER IS KILLED IN CRASH

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 18.—Steve Wargo, 20, transfer man of Denbo Heights, was killed instantly early yesterday when the automobile in which he was driving was wrecked on the National pike two miles west of here. Two companions, Bud Barger, 26, and Andy Kuhar, 19, suffered injuries.

Wargo's skull was crushed. The car upset after the wheels became locked. It was traveling at a fairly high rate of speed.

ABE MARTIN On Training For Old Age

KEEPIN' UP-TO-DATE AT 103

Uncle Niles Turner had his measure taken for a new light plaid form-fitting sack suit this week. Mr. Turner is well over 103, and has just organized a new airport corporation, buyin' two farms just west of the sawmill. In speakin' of his age, he says, "If folks jest begun young enough to figure on livin' a hundred an' fifty years instead of tryin' to crowd a century into thirty-five or forty years they'd have no trouble at all. Most folks git scared at forty-five or fifty an' start in to see ev'rythin' before they're snapped off with the result that they're goin' an' forgotten at sixty. The airplane business is jest beginnin' to get started, an' if we make any money before ten or fifteen years I'll be surprised. There's a lot o' pioneerin' to be done. I started a sawmill seventy-five years ago an' it took ten years to break even. The present-day fad of droppin' out at fifty to play the remainin' years of life is all bunk. A feller begins to deteriorate the minute he retires an' has to be a fast worker to git any playin' done. The thing to do is interlard some playin' as we go along. But lots o' folks have quite enough o' life at sixty. Usually they're hemmed in by a lot o' snarlins', hateful children, or they've long ago exhausted all the pleasures o' life, an' more often they've lost their snap an' are in the way. Then around sixty the avenues o' opportunity begin to close in an' younger people block the way. A person should be independent to git anything out o' life after sixty, that is he should have some money. The human machine is as complicated an' delicate as an oil burner. It has to have attention. The liver should be spongy, lively an' alert. Modest eatin' an' thorough chewin' essential. An' lookin' ahead an' plannin', all pro-long life. Don't let a wife an' children hold you back. Treat 'em respectfully, but don't let 'em discourage you. I wuz talkin' to a feller this week that's an ole man at thirty-five an' because he never had a responsibility. Responsibility is jest like buyin' an automobile on payments. It keeps you workin' an' plannin' an' lookin' ahead. I know a feller that's livin' with his son-in-law, an' that'll take the pep an' self-assurance out o' anybody. I know it's hard to git a job with the Western Union after you're seventy-five, an' o' course few drug stores want sandwich makers over eighty. You can't make employers understand that you feel as young as you ever did, an' it's purty discouragin' to be out o' work at ninety. That's why a feller should git in business fer himself. Our new airport'll keep me hummin' fer a long time. Flyin's jest in its toddlin' clothes. We hope to be runnin' three-dollar excursions on the moon, good returnin' Monday, by 1940. I met my grand-daughter this mornin' on the street. She wuz carryin' two babies an' yellin' at one ahead to be careful, an' yellin' at one behind to hurry up, but it didn't make me feel a bit ole. I'm hooked up with a big, modern enterprise with a future, an' I've got to be fit an' available."

MONDAY'S PROGRAM.

Our educational department having Mrs. E. F. G. Harper as chairman has arranged a program for Monday which is bound to interest all members. For it deals with a subject which is much debated by the public—sometimes without the desired information regarding it. The subject is "The State's Program for Special Education." The address is to be given by Dr. F. H. Reiter of the Department of Public Instruction and head of the division of special instruction.

It is a coincidence that Mrs. Prick in her message to club women given through the January "Messenger" stresses education as of prime importance in the club work of the state and immediately we find the opportunity already provided for gaining knowledge which should strengthen our cooperation with the public schools. Mrs. Prick said: "Because education is what gives life its color and depth I choose to dedicate to the Department of Education my first message of the new year. Education is the force which must help mould the type of clear, intelligent thinking which we have a right to expect from our club women." May the year hold in store for each of you an awakened consciousness of the need for the type of education that will help you to say with Robert Louis

Rev. Bert Williams Presents Lecture

Last Service Of Anniversary
Week Given In First Baptist Church

A large number of people heard an extraordinary lecture given last night at the First Baptist church, by Rev. Bert Williams of Ellwood City, who spoke on "Great American Scandals." The lecture was unique in that it was illustrated by 200 lantern slides that Mr. Williams himself made from pictures, charts, cartoons, and paintings, collected from all parts of the country. Mr. Williams eloquently exposed the evils of war, the liquor traffic, cigarettes, child labor, dope, and divorce; great scandals of American life. He showed that these things can be remedied only when the individual accepts Jesus Christ as Savior and bows to His holy will. For nearly two hours, Rev. Williams held his audience in rapt attention, with his graphic portrayal of conditions which are making for the destruction of the American home and all other worth while institutions. Certainly the number of young people who witnessed the lecture will be warned as never before against the great sins of this day.

Sunday night the pastor, George M. Landis, will give a message of unusual interest on the subject: "Can the Bible Be Broken?" This sermon will be an answer to a large number of inquiries received recently from persons who have been disturbed by reading criticisms of the Bible in current literature and from hearing

The Parent Problem

Safeguard Few Roads For Sleds

Gone are the days when coasting for the average child is reasonably safe. To many a child the sled is a dangerous plaything. In the average town and city there are very few places available for coasting. An occasional park has hills; but city parks are accessible to a small percentage of the children. Even most such hills are too crowded to make coasting reasonably safe or particularly attractive.

Sidewalks up and down hillsides are enticing, and most of them lead into dangerous crossings. The little tilts from the home drives into the streets attract about the largest number of children under eight or ten years of age. Unfortunately, when ice and snow make such places good for coasting, ice and snow are also on the pavement. The more slippery the street, the more attractive are the sliding places for the children who have sleds.

One driving a truck or automobile may be ever so careful. He may be going less than 15 miles an hour. If a sled unexpectedly glides out from a drive in front of him, he may not be able to stop soon enough to avoid the child.

Upon the street leading from my home to the main thoroughfare I drive on winter days in constant dread of injuring some child. It seems that nearly every youngster has a sled, and that almost everyone coasts from his drive directly into the street. What puzzles me is that so few of them are hurt.

What can be done about it? In the first place, we parents ought to be ashamed of ourselves that we do not get together and demand of the street department that certain streets be roped off where children may enjoy coasting in perfect safety. And then we ought to create enough public sentiment and effect enough home control to legislate and execute an ordinance whereby children would be forbidden by the police from coasting in or onto other streets.

In the meanwhile, whether there are safe coasting places available to our children or there are not, we owe it to our children to prevent them absolutely from coasting on or into open streets. Hooking onto passing cars or trucks is so hazardous that one is appalled that any parent lets his children do it. Some day we may advance in civilization far enough to count a child's life worth enough to make it a serious offense by parents who let their children expose themselves to such dangers. Indeed, it is possible that by and by parents who allow their children to face such dangers will be punished by the law. Better if parents learn to live without the need of such a law.

How may we keep our coasting children from the street? By beginning early enough we can teach them never to play in the streets at all, summer or winter. On this subject I have already written several times. A simple means to protect the lives and limbs of those children who have long been playing in the street is to let their sleds be put away for a good long time upon the first offense. Of course they still may borrow other children's sleds. A surer, safer way is to train the child long before he is big enough to use a sled, never to use the open street as a playground.

Tomorrow: Too timid to Talk.

Gold Star Mother Bill To Be Amended

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The Gold Star Mother Bill enabling widows and mothers of soldiers killed in the World War and buried abroad to visit their graves, would be amended to care for members of the pilgrimage who become ill on the trip under a bill approved by the senate military affairs committee today.

The amendment to the provision limiting the stay of the mothers and widows to two weeks abroad the words "unless ill or unavoidably detained." The amendment was recommended by Secretary of War Hurley because of the many mothers who are in feeble health and may require hospitalization which would make it impossible for them to return with their groups.

The general opinion seems to be that a bill mother will start again by summer, but whether they can get as many players to buy chips this time is a big question.—The Charleston Evening Post.

Dr. W. E. Hammaker Be Guest Preacher

Dr. W. E. Hammaker, the guest preacher at the preaching mission in the First Methodist church January 21 to 26, is an outstanding Methodist minister. He has been pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown, for 14 years. He has been a member of the last three general conferences of his church, having been elected to the last general conference by 80 per cent of all the votes cast by his conference. He is a trustee of Ohio Wesleyan university and of the Board for Kentucky Work carried on by the Methodist church. He is active, very active, in all federated church and community affairs. He has been for years a strong champion of prohibition and other reforms.

No one who can possibly hear Dr. Hammaker every evening next week will be able to afford to miss the stirring messages that he will bring. He who misses the best is the loser, whether he knows it or not.

Peter's Adventures

TRUE TO HER NAME
Down came Tumble-Bug, mud ball and all!

Peter was sorry for Mrs. Tumble-Bug and ashamed of himself.

"If only I had given that lady a helping hand, this accident would never have happened. Bluffer, I'm very much afraid we shall never see that unfortunate cousin of yours again. Why, she must be squashed flat."

Peter was just about to try to roll the mud ball from the body of the Beetle when the ball rolled off itself, no—not of itself. Peter saw a pair of black claws kicking. To whom did they belong? In less time than it takes to tell, Peter found out.

"It is very kind of you to be so worried about what happens to me, a perfect stranger," cried a sprightly voice. Out from behind the mud ball hopped—whom do you think? The very Mrs. Tumble-Bug upon whom the ball had rolled. "But I am all right, quite. This is not the first time mud ball and I have rolled down hill together. I'm used to tumblers, in fact, I guess I like 'em."

"So do I. They're great fun!" Mrs. Tumble-Bug Number One Spoke up. "Life would be all work and no play if something like this didn't happen once in a while. For goodness sakes, Auntie, why are you standing off alone by yourself? Come over and join the crowd."

"I was waiting for you to ask me," sighed Mrs. Tumble-Bug Number Three, who had been left to her own company when her companion and mud ball rolled down hill together. "I never go where I am not wanted."

Mrs. Tumble-Bug Number Three wiped a tear from her eye. Mrs. Tumble-Bug Number Two patted her on the shoulder.

"Nonsense, Auntie, you're all tired out. That's what's the matter! Sit down and rest a spell. You're among friends. And by and by, when we've had a good visit, I'll help you bury your eggs."

Next: "Boss Tumble-Bug."

Possibilities Of "Flu" Epidemic This Year Very Slim, Leading Doctors Say

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Many sections of the United States have been experiencing ideal "flu" weather in many sections during the last few weeks, but no signs of an epidemic have developed, public health officials declared today.

For the week ending January 11 there were 2,647 cases reported, compared to 140,000 the same week in 1929 and 2,600 the corresponding period of 1928.

No Epidemic in Sight.

A year ago the country was in the grip of the worst influenza epidemic since the fatal and far-reaching plague of the war-winter of 1918-1919. While only 140,000 cases had been officially reported it was probable that nearer 1,000,000 persons were afflicted with the epidemic.

Officials said there appears to be no probability of an epidemic this winter. The disease rarely is in epidemic form two years in succession, running in cycles several years apart. Nevertheless Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming urged that the country should take reasonable precautions and should particularly guard against exposure and not fail to give the proper treatment to common colds and other respiratory maladies.

Get Fresh Air.

Plenty of fresh air, avoidance of chilling or undue exposure, wholesome food and warm clothing were some of the points mentioned as precautionary measures against influenza.

The public health service, as well as private medical scientists throughout the country have been conducting a systematic investigation of influenza in an effort to isolate the germ and to devise serums for treatment and prevention. While a number of reputable medical scientists have announced isolation of the germ the public health bureau has not yet accepted these discoveries as final and will not do so until more proof is established.

Government experts, however, anticipated that within the next few years the germ would be isolated and the necessary serums discovered which will mitigate the dangers of influenza epidemics just as smallpox and typhoid fever have been removed from the high death rate diseases through vaccination and inoculation.

Influenza presents an even greater problem than the more specific and clear cut diseases, which were formerly considered highly fatal, because of its varying forms and peculiar action.

today and admitting their share in it. Coroner J. P. Caldwell announced this afternoon that a combined inquest and hearing in the Clark Rea murder case would be held Monday evening at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz.

Immediately following their confession early this morning, Charles Llewellyn and William Grimm were taken to the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz by County Detective H. Martin Lee, who made charges of murder against them and also against the two young men, whom they implicate as being partners with them in the commission of this crime.

Make Confessions

In their detailed confessions Llewellyn and Grimm give all the details of the crime, tell of having planned the affair for some time, believing that there efforts would be rewarded by the money they were inclined to believe the Rea brothers had.

They tell how they visited the isolated Rea home about a week previous, but their courage failed them, then how on the night previous to the murder they met, perfected their plans, and then how, on Wednesday night, Jan. 15th, the plan of the previous night was carried out, Clark Rea was murdered, $43.54 in actual cash secured and divided, and part of the guns hidden in another car from that which they made the murder trip in.

Show No Fear

In every move confessed to, in every action since their apprehension, Llewellyn and Grimm have displayed a non-chalance, a calmness, that almost surpasses belief.

When first met by the special investigators, McAnaney and Barrett, they were apparently enjoying a game of pool in a downtown poolroom. They displayed little interest, when asked to take a ride and have a talk with the investigators.

For more than an hour, they resisted all ordinary efforts of the investigators to secure some information. It was Llewellyn, who finally made the first admission.

Later in the making of the confessions, they continued their apparent indifferent manner and at no time, was there any tendency to break down as they admitted to the facts concerning the murder.

Apparently the planning, and commission of the murder and robbery was just another ordinary incident as far as the youths in custody and those yet to be apprehended and ingenuitously crafty tendencies and unmitigated nerve were exercised by them at all times.

Act On Tip

Acting on a tip placed at their disposal by District Attorney John S. Powers, L. B. McAnaney and Charles F. Barrett, acting under the instructions of the district attorney as special investigators in this case, because of the fact that County Detective H. Martin Lee is busy in the Corporal Brady Paul murder case, by a series of personal deductions and eliminations, landed and had the confessions of the two youths apprehended in a few short hours after starting out last evening.

First they went to the home of Jesse A. Martin, Wood street, whom Llewellyn and Grimm later implicated, making inquiry for him. They learned that he had left home about 5 p. m. for a destination unknown.

From there McAnaney and Barrett went to a poolroom on West Washington street about 9:10 p. m. It was learned on inquiry that the young men had been in the habit of loafing there, but were not there then.

Coming out of that place, the investigators decided to go to another poolroom a few doors further west. On entering this place, Mr. McAnaney recognized one of the men present as William Llewellyn. He asked the latter where his brother Charles was.

"He's playing pool over there," replied William Llewellyn, pointing out his brother engaged in a game at one of the tables.

He introduced Messrs. McAnaney and Barrett to his brother, after which Barrett remarked to his partner, "I believe that other fellow playing with Llewellyn is Grimm."

William Llewellyn advised them that it was Grimm, McAnaney and Barrett invited Charles Llewellyn and Grimm to come with them for a talk, which invitation was accepted. The party included William Llewellyn also.

The party drove around to Falls street, where it was parked and then the investigators began to question Charles Llewellyn. The conversation of the group continued for more than an hour, when finally Charles Llewellyn broke down and admitted that he was implicated in the murder of Clark Rea. Grimm on seeing his pal give up did likewise.

First, they said they had thrown the guns in the creek, but Llewellyn finally said that he could go and get the guns.

Find Three Guns.

The car was then driven to the Llewellyn home on English avenue. Parking the machine on the street, investigators down the road from the Llewellyn home, Charles Llewellyn and L. B. McAnaney went to a car at the Llewellyn home, where the former secured three twenty-two calibre revolvers from the pocket of the machine, a touring car. The pockets from which the revolvers were procured was that located on the back of left hand side door.

The return was then made to the office of the district attorney in the Union Trust company building. Owning the district attorney, Barrett, McAnaney, William Llewellyn and the two youths, who had confessed to the Rea murder, repaired to a room in the Castleton hotel, where the complete confessions of Charles Llewellyn and William Grimm were made and taken down by Charles F. Barrett, signed by the youths making the confession and witnessed by the district attorney, McAnaney and William Llewellyn.

Confessions Made

When their confessions had been transcribed by Barrett, they were read to the youths, whose rights had been previously explained to them, who were asked if they had any corrections to suggest. William Llewellyn was also asked if the data written down was satisfactory and when all agreed that the statements as transcribed were all right, they were signed and witnessed.

The confessed murderers were then removed to the district attorney's office and later to the Alderman's office and from there to the county jail, after which Investigators Barrett and McAnaney continued their efforts to locate those youths implicated by the two others in their confessions.

Plan Robbery

Charles Llewellyn in his confession told how they, Grimm, McDevitt and Martin had planned robbing of the Rea home for more than a week.

He stated that they had made one trip out to the place to get the lay of the land. This was about a week before the actual robbery and murder.

On this trip, Grimm had a 22 calibre revolver, while McDevitt had a thirty-two calibre revolver.

When they got there they got cold feet. However, they peeked through the window and saw the Rea brothers inside. Llewellyn and Grimm went to the back door, according to this statement of the former and rapped on the door.

One of the men inside asked what was wanted, but did not open the door. They replied they wanted some oil and this man replied that they did not have any. The four youths then left.

On the night of January 14, the night previous to the murder and robbery, they met and made definite plans and arrangements for the visit to the Rea home the following night.

About 6:30 p. m. on the night of the 15th, Llewellyn stated he took his father's Overland touring car to McClelland avenue, where he secured Grimm. They then went down town and picked up Martin and McDevitt on West Washington street.

Go To Rea Farm

They then started for the Rea home. This time they all had guns, Llewellyn, Grimm and Martin having twenty-two calibre Young America Double Action revolvers, which have been found and are in the hands of the district attorney, while McDevitt had a 32 calibre revolver, which has yet to be found.

Parking the car on the road, they went down through the fields to the Rea home. Arriving at the house, McDevitt and Llewellyn went to one window, securing barrel staves, they did so, while Grimm and Martin went to the opposite window also armed with barrel staves.

Crash In Windows

First Martin and Grimm smashed in the window at their side with the barrel staves. One of the old men, Clark Rea, according to Llewellyn grabbed up a chair and threw it through the window that had been broken. Then Llewellyn and McDevitt smashed in the opposite window with their barrel staves. Martin and Grimm then hurried around to the second window that had been smashed in and all started to shoot into the home from this window.

They saw one of the men fall, then McDevitt got up on the window sill and went in through the broken window, followed by Llewellyn and Grimm in the order named. Martin remained outside on guard.

As they entered, the brother, who had not been shot was crouched down between the lounge and wall. McDevitt rushed over to him, Llewellyn testified and covered him with his gun saying, "Give Us Your Roll and Don't make a move or You'll die." The old man fumbled in his pockets and handed over fifty-four cents.

Takes Money From Dying Man. McDevitt then turned to the man on the floor, Clark Rea, who lay there groaning and having turned over on his back and reaching into his inside pocket, securing $43. He then searched the bed, Llewellyn confessed, but found nothing.

Martin who was on guard outside and did not enter then called in "I'm watching but hurry up." Finding nothing in the bed, McDevitt, according to Llewellyn, turned around and said "Let's Go Boys." As he spoke, McDevitt stepped on the bed then onto the window sill and out of the window. Llewellyn and Grimm followed in the order named. They ran for their car, and on getting into the car thrust the three 22 calibre revolvers into the pocket of the car. McDevitt retained his revolver.

Divide the Money. On the way in they divided the money, Llewellyn and Grimm receiving $11 each and Martin and McDevitt dividing the balance. Hurrying into town, they took McDevitt down Mill street, letting him out at the B. & O. freight station at Division street. Martin was let out at Water street near Rohrer's gun shop.

It was about 8:30 p. m. by this time and Llewellyn drove in a hurry to his father's shop, he having been told to take his father home. His father was waiting for him.

He and Grimm accompanied by the father of Llewellyn then drove to the Llewellyn home. After his father had gotten out of the car and gone into the house, Llewellyn told Grimm, he says, to get the guns out of the pocket of his father's car and place them in the other car there, which is the car from which the guns were secured last night.

Grimm Confesses.

Grimm's confession was in all the major details merely a corroboration of that of Llewellyn. He adds this information in his statement, that McDevitt was known but a short time to him and Llewellyn. Martin knew McDevitt, he states, and introduced him to him and Llewellyn one time when they met on Mill street but a short time ago.

According to Grimm, Martin in introducing McDevitt stated that he was just the fellow they wanted, as he had been "down the river and knew how to pull the job." He also stated that when Llewellyn told him to take the guns and place them in the other car, he also told him to take the shells out, but he was so bothered, he claims, that he was not sure whether he got them all out or not and this fact was borne out when the three guns found all had one or two shells in their chambers.

In the checkup on Jack McDevitt by Investigators McAnaney and Barrett during the night, it was found that he had just secured his shoes after being repaired, on the afternoon of the murder.

Investigation at the shoe repair establishment, where he had them repaired, it was found that rubber heels bearing the trademark which was found imprinted on the window sill of the Rea home following the murder, had been used in repairing the shoes.

Cities and towns in all directions have been asked to be on the lookout for the two young men implicated by Llewellyn and Grimm.

Facts established in the murder of Clark Rea by the confessions of Charles Llewellyn and William Grimm bear out in almost every detail the story told by E. H. Rea, brother of the murdered man, who is being held as a material witness in the case.

In view of the fact that it has now been definitely established that he told the true story from the start, it is probable that he will be released from jail.

The bullet that caused the death of Clark Rea, the murdered man, was a 22 calibre and the confessions of the two young men in custody, show that three of them were armed with revolvers shooting that size bullet.

According to a story told by Howard Phillips, superintendent of the city garbage furnace he saw Llewellyn and three other youths with an Overland automobile at the plant about 4:15 p. m. the day of the murder. He said the boys all wore caps and had run out of gasoline. According to his story, Johnny Waters, connected with the garbage plant, furnished the boys with a quart of gasoline. The car at that time, Phillips said was enroute to the city.

Another story told today said that McDevitt, Tuesday night, wanted to leave for Chicago. Martin and he are two of the boys alleged accomplices of Llewellyn and William Grimm, who remain unaptured.

Boston University To Study American Music

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Jan. 13.—Three new courses dealing with "American Music" and modern masterpieces, will begin in February at the College of Music, Boston University, according to Dean John Patten Marshall. They will be given by Alfred H. Meyer, an authority on modern music and by Richard G. Appel, head of the music division of the Boston Public Library.

Beginning February 1, Mr. Appel will lecture each Saturday morning from 11 to 12 on "American Music." It is believed that this course will be of special interest to the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary celebration, since American music had its origin in Massachusetts.

Alfred H. Meyer who took the place of the late Stuart Mason on the faculty of Boston University's College of Music is also lecturer for the Massachusetts Board of Education.

New Enforcement Agency Proposed

Military Arm Of United States Will Be Placed Into Dry Enforcement Service

DRASTIC MEASURES BEING PLANNED

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Prohibition's second decade started today with the government preparing to place a military arm of the United States in the front-line trenches of enforcement.

The treasury was preparing to organize a little sister to the marine corps to guard the borders against smugglers, for that is substantially what the militarized border patrol will become, operating as it will, providing congress passes the necessary legislation, as the land force of the coast guard.

This military unit will bear the same relation to the coast guard as does the famous fighting marines to the navy.

The prohibition business was a bigger job than the first Commissioner, John T. Kramer, or anybody else, thought on January 17, 1920. On that day the government started after the bootleggers with 1,000 men, hopeful of cooperation from all the states, counties and cities.

Drastic Measures
On that day Commissioner Kramer issued a statement declaring that "we plan quick and drastic measures to make the law effective."

An official of the treasury said that since the border patrol, deployed from Maine to Washington and from the Gulf to the Pacific, will be a land unit, although under regulation of sea-going coast guard, it must be uniformed, but of a different type than that of the coast guard.

While in the navy officers are designated as lieutenant-commanders, commanders, captains and admirals, similar to ranks in the coast guard, the marine corps uses the army organization with lieutenants, captains, majors, colonels and generals.

The present plan is for the same setup in the border patrol. There would be ordinary patrolmen, comparable to privates in the marine corps, with non-commissioned or warrant officers, and commissioned officers, the latter in charge of the larger areas.

The plan of placing an officer, possibly of the rank of colonel in charge of the entire patrol, has been considered. He would be a sort of chief-of-staff to admiral P. C. Billard, commandant of the coast guard, in charge of the land unit.

The size of the patrol has not been determined. At present there is a force of 2,500 men in the coast guard, customs and immigration patrol to form the nucleus of the new unit. It was thought about 5,000 men would be required for the entire 3,000 miles of border.

Federal Buildings Here Inadequate For Census Work

Although Census Directors in the various districts are requested to use Federal buildings for headquarters, there is no possibility of acquiring this room in New Castle. It has been found. The government requests that Federal state, county, or municipal buildings be used wherever possible in this work, but a survey of conditions here reveals the fact that no room is available in New Castle. Reports of Postmaster E. W. Crawford and an investigation by the Federal Business Association in charge of this feature of census work, brought to light the dire condition existing in this city.

As a result, the census work here will have to be carried on in rented quarters, using rented equipment and furniture. Recommendations to this effect have been made to the headquarters of the Coordination service in Washington.

THE QUESTION BOX

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

"What?" queries an obvious inlander, evidently with a taste for the minstrelsy of long ago, "is the meaning of 'larboard'?"—as in "Larboard Watch Ahoy!"

"Larboard" (pronounced "la'brd") formerly was the nautical term for the left, facing forward aboard ship toward the vessel's bow—just as a sailor still says "starboard" (pronounced "sta'brd") when he means right. To a mariner the words right and left are as shocking as they are to a horseman, applied to the "off" and "nigh" sides of his mount—although it is a fact that Josephus Daniels did insist on their use by the scandalized sea-dogs under him, concerning men-o'-war when he was secretary of the navy. Today while the term "starboard" continues current, "larboard" is obsolete; "port" has supplanted it. True "Port Watch Ahoy" would be metrically unsatisfactory but at least the correct pronunciation—"la'brd"—seems to the International Union of Seafaring Men. "La'brd watch" of course refers to the look out on the port side.

Where did the term "o. k." originate and what is the meaning of the two initials?

"O. k.'s" origin is obscure. One dubious story attributes it to Andrew Jack's abbreviation for "oll korrek"—his own facetious spelling. A likelier sounding account is that early Indian agents picked it up from the chief Old Keokuk's habit of signing treaties with initials. A third version is that it was a now-lost Indian word "okeh" meaning "all right" which was the way Woodrow Wilson always wrote it.

What is a caucus as mentioned in Washington dispatches concerning congressional proceedings?

A caucus is a meeting of the members of a single party to decide on joint action in regular session of all the party groups together.

Has the senate no voice in financial legislation?

Oh yes; as much as the house of representatives once the necessary financial proposals have been introduced. The constitution only provides that financial bills must "originate" in the lower house of congress. They cannot pass however without the senate's approval. It can modify them too.

Why is England called John Bull?

The first known reference to John Bull is to be found in "Law is a Bottomless Pit" a political satire by Dr. John Arbuthnot a Scottish physician and writer (1667-1735) who gave the name to one of his characters intended by him to typify the burly bluff nature of the English.

Believe Man Met With Foul Play

Indications Are Louis F. Neil Was Slugged And Thrown Into River

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Jan. 18.—In the belief that Louis F. Neil, 56, 1107 Fourth avenue, missing West Bridgewater service station owner, has met with foul play, the Beaver county commissioners and Samuel G. Markley, West Bridgewater, life-long friend of Neil, today offered rewards of $50 each for the recovery of the body.

Neil was last seen yesterday morning when he alighted from a street car at Junction Park and started across the bridge to his service station. A few minutes later Steve Sullivan, Monaca Heights, en route to his work at a Fallston plant, discovered an empty billfold believed Neil's. He never reached the service station.

Markley said today, he believed Neil, who carried a considerable amount of money for change, was held up by bandits on the bridge, slugged, robbed and the body thrown into the swollen waters of Beaver river.

Congressman Johnson Fights For Veterans

Rep. Royal Johnson, South Dakota, Chairman Of Veterans Committee Active

Would Pass Legislation Giving Disabled Veterans Of Wars Rightful Support

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Declaring that men wounded in actual battles of the World war are being "gold bricked" in the distribution of $500,000,000 soldiers' benefits every year, Rep. Royal Johnson (R) of South Dakota, chairman of the house veterans committee, today opened a campaign to give them "a square deal."
Johnson's contention was backed by Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, who testified congress has given groups of soldiers advantages over others in building up the present system of aid for disabled veterans.
Rep. Fitzgerald (R) of Ohio, also subscribing to the declaration, announcing he favored legislation adding to a 10 per cent to the disability compensation of soldiers wounded in battle.
Under measures now before the committee, Johnson asserted, a veteran who lost a leg in battle may find himself drawing $43.50 a month from the government while a stevedore who suffered an ailment when he entered the service would get $235 a month.
"I've been impressed with not giving the battle casualty proper treatment under the law," said Johnson. "He is getting 'gold-bricked.' There is a great attempt being made to bring everyone else under the benefits of the law who can show any service connection for any ailment."
"I'm trying to eliminate discrimination and call the attention of the country to the fact that it exists."

Gen. Hines informed the committee that one out of four soldiers and sailors in the World war has asked compensation and one out of every eight is now getting it.
"I have felt that those who have battle disabilities have not got enough in comparison to others who have secured benefits under the presumptive clause," said Gen. Hines. "The man who has tuberculosis may get more than the man suffering from a gun shot wound."
Gen. Hines also advised a change in the system of awarding compensation on the basis of pre-war earnings. A bookkeeper may get a 39 per cent disability and a structural iron worker an 89 per cent disability for the same injury, he said.

Would Benefit All
"I feel we are rapidly approaching the time when congress should adopt a policy regarding veterans of all wars to bring about uniformity in allowances," said Gen. Hines. "The veterans of the Spanish war could point to apparent inequalities in favor of some World war veterans, and some veterans of the late war could point to apparent inequalities in favor of the Spanish war veteran."
Gen. Hines insisted those now in the rolls of the veterans bureau deserve the compensation they are receiving.
The committee has before it a bill by Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi which would give compensation to every veteran who can prove he is suffering from a disability which existed while he was in the service, and which was aggravated by service.

CRIME WAVE

Mount Jackson, Pa., January 17, 1930.
Editor News:
Much has been said and written on the crime wave and reasons for it. In the humble opinion of the writer, much of the blame for it can be laid at the door of our courts of justice and it is entirely possible that our own Lawrence county court is not altogether blameless. Now be it known to all men that the writer has no unkind words to say about our judges, rather that he has a high regard for both of them. But a judge is not responsible for all that is done at the court house.

He may explain the law to a jury of "bone heads" but he cannot prevent them from bringing in a verdict that is childish if not idiotic. The whole jury system is rotten to the core and ought to be either abolished or modified so a jury could return a verdict by a majority vote. If we have majority rule everywhere else, why not here in the jury room?
Not long ago, a man was tried for murder. The trial brought out the fact that he had reached a depth of depravity seldom reached by anyone in this wicked old world. Not a single redeeming trait of character was discovered and yet he was allowed to cheat the electric chair.

Now why in the name of reason and common sense, would a jury recommend mercy in a case like this? If the murder had been committed in England, he would have been tried, convicted and hung, inside of three weeks. That is the way they do business over there and that is the reason why we have twenty-five murders in the United States for one that they have in England. We Americans get chesny sometimes and boast of our accomplishments, but we can learn a few things about law enforcement from old Uncle Johnny Bull.

Another thing, the insanity game is being worked overtime. Let us suppose a brutal murder is committed in this country (and we have one about every week). The guilty party is arrested and lodged in jail. About the second day, someone will be sending flowers to him in the jail and inside of a week, some fellow will turn up with the story that he knew a man that lived next door to a second cousin of the prisoner's mother-in-law, and that this man acted queer sometimes and he believed there was insanity either in his family or in some other family. The papers publish the story and a movement is set on foot to create sympathy for the murderer before the time comes for his trial.

Another thing that is productive of a great deal of harm in this country is the position taken on the subject of law enforcement by some of the highbrows like Doctor Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. Not much had been heard from him since the election in 1928, when he took to the cyclone chair. However, he just recently came up smiling again and handed out the statement that we don't have to obey the laws if we don't like them; just trample them underfoot and treat them with contempt. The Doctor's idea is that we ought to sort the laws over very carefully and pick out the ones that we like and junk the rest of them. Great scheme Doctor but it won't work out right in this country or anywhere else on earth.

Another thing that is helping along the crime wave is the agitation of the question of abolishing capital punishment. The writer of this article has only one question to ask to those opposed to capital punishment. How many persons sent to prison for life spend the rest of their days behind prison bars? The most of them are pardoned in a few years and nine out of ten of them will resume the old life of crime just where they left off, when they went to the crib.
S. A. COWDEN.

ABOUT COURT HOUSE

Editor News:
Now as the lawyers and business men of this city have come to the conclusion that we must have a new court house, I, as an architect and structural engineer do hereby give you my opinion free and gratis, for the benefit of the commonwealth, as my suggestion to solve this matter in the best manner.

In the first place, the location of the present court house is excellent in itself. It is high and dry, and could hardly be reached by any flood. It is as well protected from fire hazards as any place in town.

My suggestions are as follows:—
I would take down the columns in front of the building facing toward the west and dig a tunnel into the bank, starting at the level of the present side walk, where the steps up to the court house commence. This tunnel should end about where the present columns are now and be provided with elevators connecting the different floor levels of three stories high vaults, which would be water proof, fire proof and burglar proof, if constructed of stone, brick concrete and steel construction in floors.

I have no levels to go by, and can therefore only guess at the height or depth this would bring me, when I suggest the three floors of vault construction as basements for the court house extension. There may be depth enough for four floors of vault construction if the open space of each would furnish ample room for storage of records for hundreds of years to come.

Now for the offices and court room additions, I suggest to build a two story building on top of the afore mentioned vault construction extending the full length of the present front facade and extending front toward the west as far as the space would allow it.

The floor levels should be the same as in the present buildings and the two buildings should be connected by fireproof connections in shape of covered bridges, thereby allowing for light and air to both.

These suggestions if followed out, would give the court house as much as the present, in addition to floor space between three or four times the storage capacity of the present. The tower ought to be taken down, because of its fire hazard and ugliness and the clock should be supplanted by an electric device having a dial of about 10 inches in diameter.
The cost of these improvements to the present court house would not amount to any more than one fourth of the cost of a totally new building, even if built on condemned ground and without a jail, besides 25 years hence we may obtain surrounding properties for the future.

I am opposed, as a taxpayer, to increasing the bonded indebtedness of the county more than it is absolutely necessary, and therefore, have sent you these suggestions for further vindications.

Yours Truly,
Albert Martin Petersen,
201 North Jefferson street,
New Castle, Penna.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

THE NEW OAKLAND 8

GENERAL MOTORS'—Lowest-priced Eight—

$1045 AND UP

In view of what the New Oakland Eight offers, its price is attractively low. This becomes increasingly evident the more intimately you know this lowest-priced General Motors eight.

A Background of Sixteen Years

Three years of actual designing and testing preceded the announcement of the New Oakland Eight. In addition it incorporates General Motors' sixteen years' experience in building fine eight-cylinder automobiles. This mature background accounts for its sound basic design and for the many new features which contribute so greatly to the qualities of eight-cylinder luxury which it provides.

Superior Performance

The New Oakland has an 85-horsepower engine. This is the highest power ever employed in a car of Oakland's size and weight, racing cars excepted. Oakland develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight. That's why few cars are as fast. That's why it accelerates so rapidly in traffic. In fact, that is the reason for its superior performance.

Eight-Cylinder Smoothness

With its high speed and fast acceleration, the New Oakland combines the smoothness resulting from the overlapping power impulses inherent in eight-cylinder design. This smoothness is intensified by such exclusive features as its complete down-draft fuel distribution, its patented laminated spring and rubber engine mountings and a new type of cylinder head which assures uniform combustion.

Only a close inspection and a demonstration will enable you to understand fully the many advantages provided by the New Oakland Eight. And only when you know its advantages can you appreciate how reasonably it is priced!

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lavejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

NEW SERIES PONTIAC BIG 6

A FAMOUS NAME—A Finer Car—

$745 AND UP

Once again Pontiac has improved upon a car already noted for its excellent qualities. To the hundreds of thousands who own Pontiacs, and to everyone who is interested in low-priced automobiles, this announcement is important. For it introduces the New Series Pontiac Big Six—a new and finer car with a famous name.

New Beauty, Smoothness, Safety

Smart new bodies by Fisher make the New Series Big Six a more beautiful Pontiac. A new belt moulding which encircles the car emphasizes its stream-line length and lowness. There is a choice of attractive new Duco colors at no extra cost. Pontiac's smoothness is increased by a new type of rubber supports for its 60-horsepower engine. Improved non-squeak four-wheel brakes and a new sloping non-glare windshield add to the car's safety.

Time-Tried Performance

When these and other improvements were being made, however, all of Pontiac's basic big car excellence was retained. Owners of the New Series Pontiac Big Six are assured of Pontiac's impressive speed, power and acceleration. They will find its economy and long life, as always, a source of saving and satisfaction. And they will have the pleasure of owning a car whose style is enduring and whose basic excellence accounts for its high resale value.

Come in. Let us show you the many advantages of this finer car with a famous name—the New Series Pontiac Big Six.

The New Series Pontiac Big Six, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

HOUSE AFIRE

The house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Bills and owned by Hiram J.

Collins caught on fire Tuesday evening about 6:30 o'clock. The fire started in an upstairs room among some old clothes which were lying on the floor. It was discovered by Mr. Collins who was going past on his way down town. Seeing the unusually bright light in the upstairs windows, he went to the door. Finding it locked, as there was no one in the house at the time, he broke in the door and finding the fire, ran to the telephone and gave the alarm. A number of men from town responded, and the fire was put out before much damage was done. The house, however, was damaged to some extent by the water. Mrs. Bills was on her way to her daughters, who lives in Volant, when looking back she also saw the bright light in the window. She hurried back, but the fire had been discovered by Mr. Collins before she reached the house.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Women's Home Missionary Society met on Tuesday evening, January 14, at the home of Mrs. Thompson with Mrs. L. V. Martin as leader. A very interesting meeting followed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Marlette, Tuesday, February 11 with Mrs. V. O. Wilken, leader.

Man Conquers the Air After Years of Effort

WRIGHT PLANE

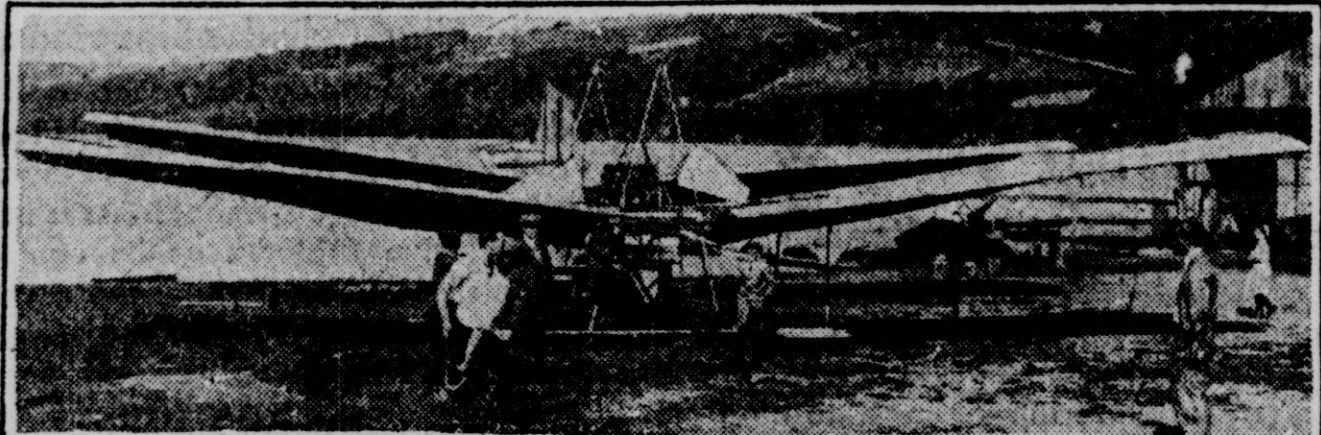

ORVILLE & WILBUR WRIGHT

GLENN CURTISS

LANGLEY PLANE

ROMANCE, fantasy, imagination, genius, all these elements are but part of the fascinating story of man's efforts to find a machine that would carry him through the air, swiftly, efficiently. From the crude sketches of a flying machine to be driven by flapping wings, envisioned and drawn by Leonardo da Vinci, the great painter, who lived in the fifteenth century, to the blueprints of the Curtiss Tanager biplane, it is a fascinating record of achievement accomplished often under tremendous difficulties.

Dr. Samuel Pierpont Langley, the great astronomer, who was secretary of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, was one of the many scientists who were fascinated by the possibility of building a practical flying machine. He built a wonderful steam-driven model which flew 3,000 feet at Quantico, Virginia, on May 6, 1896. The success of the first heavier-than-air machine ever to be flown in America emboldened Langley to continue his experiments, and with the aid of a grant authorized by Congress, he started to build a big man-carrying machine.

The story of the unfortunate beginning of a flight that ended in the Potomac rather than in the glorification of the inventor is too well known to need repetition. It is not so well known, however, that years afterward Glenn Curtiss took the ill-fated machine and successfully flew it at Hammonds, N. Y., thereby completely vindicating Dr. Langley.

Gliding experiments engaged the activities of many during the closing years of the last century. In 1896 Octave Chanute made many types of gliders, some of them weird five-decker contraptions, in which, however, he made some very successful flights. He paved the way for the first efforts of the Wright brothers, who were building motorless gliding machines in 1901. They made glides of over 600 feet in their trials and this encouraged them to install an engine. The rest is closely interwoven with the story of modern flying.

And now comes the whirl of the propeller of the wonderful machine that has been awarded the $100,000 safety prize by the Guggenheim Foundation. It has successfully passed every qualification test and is a plane built by the Curtiss Aeroplane Corporation, pioneers in the field of aeronautics. The Curtiss Tanager biplane is indeed deserving of the description of foolproof, as it has conclusively proved in the various tests.

WEST SITS IN POLITICAL SADDLE

For the first time in history, perhaps, the west and middle west are in the political saddle at Washington. Eight out of 12 important senatorial committees have western chairmen, whereas a generation ago easterners headed seven. National political control also is held by the western states. California claims President Hoover, upper left, while Kansas is the home of Vice President Curtis, upper right. In the senate Oregon has the assistant Republican floor leader, Charles L. McNary, lower right; James E. Watson, of Indiana, is Republican floor leader, center, and Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, right, is party whip.

Says She Lied

Just five years ago Viola Duke, 19, above, accused her father in a Texarkana, Tex., courtroom, of attacking her and he was given a life prison term. Now she has filed an affidavit that she hopes will free him. "He wouldn't let me go out at night and I lied to spite him," she declares.

Eielson Reported Landed in Siberia

Intense excitement was manifested in Moscow over a report that Carl Ben Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, had landed near the region of the Anguema River, 200 miles from North Cape. The report, which was unverified, was radioed to the Soviet Arctic Commission which has been in charge of Russian efforts to find the missing flyers.

Guerrilla Warfare In The Philippines

THE GUERRILLA WARFARE THAT AGUINALDO WAGED AGAINST THE AMERICANS, AFTER HIS FAILURE TO DEFEAT THEM IN PITCHED BATTLES, WAS LONG AND TERRIBLE. THE AMERICAN SOLDIERS FAR OUTNUMBERED THE INSURGENTS, BUT THE LATTER'S FAMILIARITY WITH THE COUNTRY AND THEIR CONTROL OF THE CIVILIAN POPULATION MADE UP FOR THE DISPARITY IN NUMBERS.

BANDS OF "INSURRECTOS" LURKED IN THE DEEP JUNGLES AND FELL SUDDENLY AND WITHOUT WARNING UPON SMALL EXPOSED DETACHMENTS OF AMERICANS. FREQUENTLY THEY ATTACKED OUR OUTPOSTS UNDER COVER OF DARKNESS.

THERE WERE MANY RAIDS UPON THE AMERICAN LINES OF COMMUNICATION. THE MANILA-DAGUPAN RAILWAY WAS ATTACKED TIME AFTER TIME, AND STRONG BODIES OF AMERICAN TROOPS HAD TO BE POSTED AT EVERY BRIDGE AND STATION, AND TO PATROL THE TRACKS.

THE FILIPINO GUERRILLAS WORE NO UNIFORMS AND WHEN CLOSELY PURSUED BY THE AMERICANS IT WAS A SIMPLE MATTER FOR THEM TO DISCARD THEIR WEAPONS, AND PASS THEMSELVES OFF AS PEACEFUL CIVILIANS. MONDAY—THE CAPTURE OF AGUINALDO.

George Washington High Defeats Ben Franklin

Champion basketball honors for the city were juggled considerably when the George Washington junior high five engaged the Franklin junior high quintet at the Washington floor on Friday afternoon, and after a tussle that continued throughout the four long quarters of the game defeated them by the score of 16 to 14.

It was the first time Franklin and Washington played each other this season, so for this reason alone there was a large crowd that witnessed the fray. It was estimated at approximately 500. Students and members of the faculty of both schools attended. As a preliminary game to the boys' match the girls of Washington met the girls of Franklin and completely outclassed them. Inability to stave off the brilliant offense of the Washington lassies resulted in a 40 to 6 final score, being registered against them. Stickle made 11 baskets for the Washington team.

The Washington boys looked good just as the game got under way and took the lead shortly after play started and kept it until the last of the quarter. At the close of the first quarter the score was 3 to 2 in Washington's favor with the Riviera strong. The second period brought seven points for Franklin while Washington tallied but three and left them in the lead at half time. Their lead was only three points, 9 to 6 being the score.

At half time Coach Emmett Gillespie must have rejuvenated his Washington cohorts for they came back strong and overcame Franklin, although at the close of the third quarter their lead over the east side boys was only 14 to 12.

Excitement was tense every minute of play in every quarter and when one team took the lead it seemed the other side would quickly sink a basket to tie the score again. Time and again one side would get away for what looked like a siege of scoring, but the defense of the opposing side always strengthened and held the charging forwards.

Clever basketball was exhibited at different points in the game with Reiber, Hnat, Uram, Brant and Rodgers, the entire Washington team, playing together in one of the smoothest functioning quintets that has ever played on a local floor. Morgan, Teplica and Komine stood out best for the Norton coached boys.

Washington took the lead in the final quarter of the game when Rodgers dribbled through Franklin's guards to cage the final goal, the one that brought victory for his team. Play was slackened during the final seconds of play when Washington held the ball within safe limits to prevent Franklin from tallying a possible disastrous basket.

The lineup and summary of both the preliminary and main attraction follow:

Kandy Kids Win From Ramblers

The Rambler Five from New Brighton proved no match for the K. K. club and were defeated in an uninteresting game on the Wampum opera house floor by a 36 to 11 score. This easy victory gave the "Kids" a much needed rest for their game with Forest Hills on the Wilkesburg floor. The regular five of the Kandy Kids opened the game and at the end of the first quarter were leading 15 to 0. All available subs were rushed in and finished the game which proved a walk away. Roberts and Boone played a whale of a game for the K. K. Klub while the best for New Brighton was substituted for the Sherman five from Pittsburgh who were unable to make connections. However Manager Sturgeon has booked the team for the 24th of this month.

Summary:
K. K. Klub. Ramblers.

West To Battle Firpo January 27

Indian's Left Hand Recovered From Injury Sustained In Training

Henry Firpo and Indian Tiger West will stage their postponed battle one week from Monday night it was announced here today. West injured his left hand several days prior to January 13 and it was necessary to set George Nichols in as a substitute, in order to maintain the Jolly Bowl date. Last night West announced he was ready to take on Firpo and the agreements which had been made with both middleweights will be fulfilled.

West is said to be the flashiest middleweight who has appeared in this section and as Firpo has not been defeated at 160 pounds the fans will probably see one of the best bouts they have had prepared for them. West and Firpo have already commenced training for the bout January 27.

Shires-Landis To Confer Today

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Arthur (Whitman) Shires was scheduled to return home today to learn from Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis just what the high moguls think of the prodigal son's sensational ring barnstorming tour.

Landis has intimated that his session with Shires will be one devoted to fatherly advice. Yet the high commission's attitude indicates he has taken a stand on Shires' alleged boxing appearances and particularly upon investigations made by the Illinois and Michigan Boxing Commissions.

Shires, starting for home yesterday, said he was willing to sacrifice all for his contract with the White Sox.

Jack Elder Will Get Test Tonight In Indoor Race

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Jack Elder, speed marvel of Notre Dame University, will test the whirling pace of Karl Wildermuth in the Brooklyn College games tonight.

The Georgetown flyer is a favorite to beat the Western football star, whose fleet feet beat the Army football team last fall when he dashed off a 97-yard run.

Wildermuth and Elder will clash in the four-race sprint series over the 60, 75 and 110-yard and the 100 meters distance.

Jimmy Daley of Holy Cross is the only one of five other starters figured to trouble Wildermuth and Elder. Reginald Bowen, University of Pittsburgh national and intercollegiate quarter-mile champion, will start in the 440-yard invitation. Eddie Roll, former Carnegie star, and Arnold Noyes, Boston's A. A. S. junior champion, are expected to push Bowen.

Phil Edwards, New York University negro runner, was scheduled to star in the 1000 yard run.

Jack Berg Wins From Canzoneri

English Lightweight Fighter Wins Handily Over Tony Canzoneri In New York

By COPELAND C. BURG.
(International News Service Staff)
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—An English fighter worthy of the name and that goes for both the noun and the adjective, bowed to the pugilistic world today.

He is Jack (Kid) Berg a 135-pound fighting machine with a heart so brave any old English knight of King Arthur's round table would have been glad to dip their plumes to him.

At Madison Square Garden last night before more than 18,000 fans Berg disregarded a normally heart-breaking first round in which he almost collapsed and came back to outslug Tony Canzoneri former featherweight champion.

Berg to Get Chance.
The Whitechapel, London, lad is expected to get a chance at the lightweight title of Sammy Mandell as a result of his valiant battle but he probably will have to fight Al Singer the Bronx beak buster before he engages the champion.

Canzoneri was a heavy favorite and the judgment of the so-called wise money looked very bright in the opening canto when Tony Rocco the English boxer with a series of rights and lefts to the jaw. After that Berg fought a steady, persistent fight, carrying the battle to the Italian and beating him decisively. His attack was so relentless and so sure that only in the seventh round did Canzoneri show anything.

Then his spurt was short lived as he met the flying fists of the charging Berg at every angle.

T. majority of writers, only one of whom picked Berg to win gave the Londoner six rounds, called three even and of course turned the initial stanza to Tony.

Canzoneri Gets Cut.
Canzoneri's ducking and dodging tactics to avoid punishment availed him little under the avalanche of Berg's smothering attack.

Tony took considerable punishment and Lew Pink former trainer for Gene Tunney was kept busy mending and patching Canzoneri's pummeled visage.

The fight was written down as one of the best lightweight battles seen in New York in years.

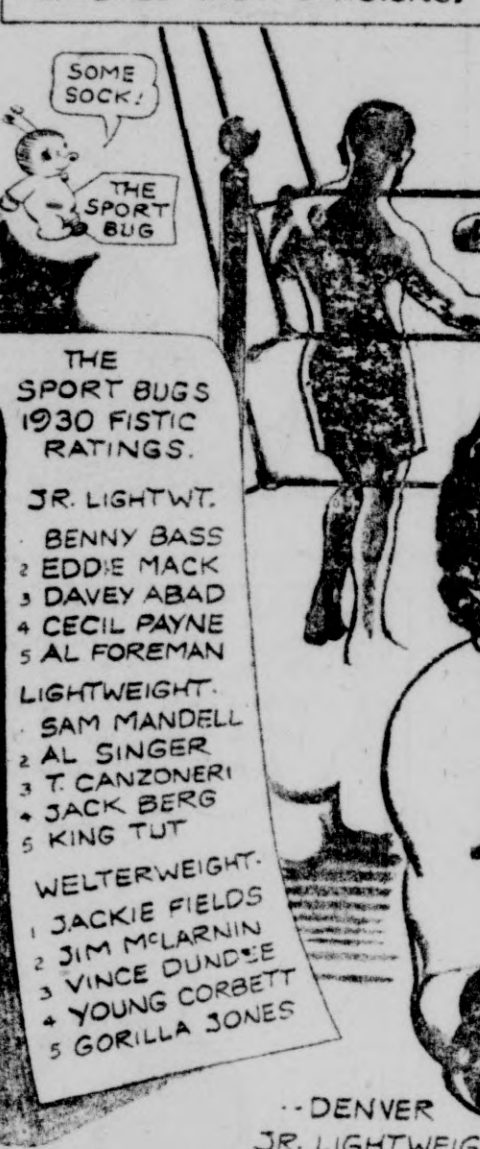

Berg gave the Italian a far worse beating than did Mandell but at that Canzoneri had nothing to be ashamed of today. He simply was outclassed by a boy who proved far better than the critics and experts believed.

The gross receipts were some $60,000 and the net $34,000.

HE WAS SITTING PRETTY
"No," said he, "I never sleep while my young folks are out at night."
"Huh! How can you get along without any sleep?" demanded the man who knew the hours young people get in.
"I sleep in the daytime," he replied.
"You see, I am a night watchman—Exchange."

Because gamblers made Benny Bass of Philadelphia an odds-on favorite to stop Tod Morgan in their recent battle at New York City, and did so swiftly in the second round, thereby winning the junior lightweight championship it looked so phony that the N. Y. State Boxing Commission abolished that trick divisi...

Eddie Mack of Denver is ranked next to Bass. He's a law student at Regis College and may fight it out before the bar of justice with Attorney Fidel La Barba, former bantam champ, some day. The young Mexican (Mack is a ring name) has been boxing brilliantly in various parts of the West. Before 1930 ends, the Sport Bug would like to see Mack battle Bass.

Great though Welter Champion Jackie Fields is at his best, the crown may pass to Dynamiter Jimmy McLarnin if the former's managers permit him to risk the title against the heaviest hitting man of his size now active in the ring. We rate them one-two now in their class; with Vince Dundee, Young Corbett III, and Gorilla Jones following.

Wiscarsers doubt that McLarnin will be given a chance at the Fieldian chin because of managerial caution. As a sporting proposition, Master Boxer Fields would have a good chance of out-pointing the baby-faced slugger.

The Sport Bug will publish heavier class ratings in his next cartoon. Remember, these ratings feature fighters estimated as comers; those believed to be past the peak of title hopes have been eliminated—wisely or not, the year's ring events will disclose.

New Castle High Has Hard Battle Tonight With Evans City High

By CHARLES LANDOLF

Tonight at 8:00 at Evans City the New Castle High school basketball team faces one of the grueling tasks of the season when they battle the Evans City high quintet for first place in Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent his cagers through a light workout last night at senior high gymnasium and stated that his boys are at the "peak" for the game tonight.

The practice consisted of shooting fouls, going around the ring, and shooting. Following the workout Coach Bridenbaugh ordered the boys to "hit the hay" early last night so that they will get plenty of rest. New Castle is after that game tonight just as bad as Evans City is after it. It will mean the league leadership and perhaps the championship of the league.

Coach Ripper of Evans City reports his boys set for the important tilt. He also sent his team through a light workout yesterday and he like Bridenbaugh ordered his boys to bed early. By the looks of things it appears as though one of the best schoolboy floor games will be seen at Evans City this evening. Both quintets appear evenly matched with picking the winner a "toss up."

New Castle in order to win the game tonight must play "heads up" basketball and make a better showing than they made in the last two games against Ambridge and Zellenople. They will have to play real basketball.

A large delegation is expected to follow the local cagers to the game. Evans City is preparing to take care of a large crowd.

Following are those who leave at 5:15 for Evans City by automobile: Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh, Assistant Coaches Gig Thomas and William L. Klee, Charles Landolf of The News-Sports Department, Frank "Frub" Crisel, Student Manager William Long and Assistant Jack Ward and the following players: Francis Wanio, Luther Rowe, Arthur Alexander, George Winter, Ralph McAuley, Nick Uram, Merle McIntosh, Allen McKissick and Dich Thomas, and Russell Hanon.

Following is the probable lineup: New Castle—Evans City
Rowe.....F..... Denbow
Wanio.....C..... Peterson
Alexander.....C..... Lutz
Uram.....G..... Ripper
McAuley.....G..... Miller

Harpster Signs As Geneva Grid Coach

Geneva College is going to step out in a big way in football next year as far as coaching goes. Dr. J. S. Martin of Geneva, has announced that the 1930 Geneva grid team will be handled by none other than Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech star and All-American quarterback in 1928.

Harpster will take over the reins of Geneva succeeding Mack Flenniken, former Covenantor star who has coached the squad for the past two years.

Boosters Clash With Todays In "Y" Game Today

New Castle Boosters And Todays To Play In City League Games Tonight

The New Castle Boosters and Todays will be the feature game tonight at the Y. M. C. A. floor. To Church League games will be played as preliminaries to the big battle. The game commences at 7:30 o'clock.

The Central Presbyterians clash with the Epworth M. E. boys in the first game, and the Wesley M. E. and First Baptists tangle in the second tilt. Both these games are very attractive.

The final game between the Boosters and Todays will be for first place in the first half of the City League schedule. The title for the first part of the season will be at stake. A red hot game is looked for.

East Brook Stops Union, 29 To 22

Girls Of East Brook Also Victorious In Match With Union Girls, 23-16

Union high school lost an exciting game to their East Brook high opponents in a game played Friday night on the Union floor. The final score was 29-22.

The East Brook girls also won their game with the Union maidens, taking their game by the count of 23-16. The lineups and summaries:

New Wilmington High Five Tops Mt. Jackson 21-14

White, Hartwell And Gilliland Star As Wilmington High Wins First League Game

New Wilmington high school basketball team broke into the win column in the class B county circuit for the first time on Friday night by toppling the fast Mt. Jackson high team 21 to 14 in a game played on the New Wilmington high floor. The New Wilmington high maidens won from Mt. Jackson 34 to 7 in the preliminary game, thus keeping their slate clean for the season to date. Both games were quite interesting.

Coach Arnold Karsten's blue and gold passers looked impressive as they outgated the Mt. Jackson boys to take a seven-point victory. The score at the end of the first half was 10 to 9 with Wilmington leading. It was in the final half of play that the Wilmington lads stepped out and secured themselves a fine lead, with White, Hartwell and Gilliland dropping them through the hoops with regularity from all angles.

For the Mt. Jackson team the playing of Danahudy, Pegge and King featured. The game was efficiently handled by Tudor Lewis, former Westminster college star, who is now turning to the official end of the game.

New Wilmington to date in the league play has won one and lost two. They have quite a few games to make up due to a recent quarantine.

The summary:
New Wilmington 21 Mt. Jackson 14
Davis.....F..... Danahudy
White.....F..... St. Clair
Brownlee.....C..... Casto
Hartwell.....G..... Pegge
Gilliland.....G..... Gilchrist
Subs—New Wilmington: Myers and Stear. Mt. Jackson: Dawson, Gardner and King.
Field goals—Davis, White 3, Hartwell 2, Gilliland 2, Myers, Danahudy, St. Clair, Pegge, King.
Fouls—Mt. Jackson 6 out of 12; New Wilmington 3 out of 12.
Referee—Tudor Lewis (Westminster).

Dailey Will Head Tennis Association

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Louis B. Dailey of New York will succeed Samuel H. Colton of Philadelphia as president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, it was reported here today. Colton is not to be a candidate for election, it was said. Dailey is now vice president.

BY RUBE GOLDBERG

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 18.—Coach John Lawther's Westminster college basketball team, although victorious in the first 10 games this season, lacks the scoring punch which put the Titans out in front in the district race last year. Followers of the team claim that the decided improvement shown by all district opponents and the loss of Tudor Lewis, last year's scoring guard, are responsible for this.

In the Grove City and Geneva games the Titans barely won out, and although they had plenty of opportunities at the baskets did not make many shots count. Enough baskets were missed in the first half of the Grove City game to win two ball games, and although the Geneva defense kept the Titans from trying quite so many in the Covenantor game, still Lawther's crew had more shots at the net than Loeffler's quintet.

During the layoff period, because of final examinations, Lawther will drill the men each evening and will try to build up the offensive power of the team. With the next game a week away with the St. Bethany team at Weilsburg, W. Va., there may be time to get the scoring punch back. The Titans will need it if they take over Furness Nuss' fast-stepping Bisons January 25.

Coach Lawther believes that there are some trying days ahead for the Titans. While Grove City and Geneva have been turned back momentarily, both are to be met again and victories over either will be hard to get. Then, too, there are two games with Allegheny, two with Duquesne, two with Bethany, and one with Waynesburg as well as games with Washington, Carnegie Tech, and Thiel to make the February and March campaigns plenty strenuous.

If Lawther can win a majority of his games this year, he will have established one of the best four-year coaching records in the district. In the three years he has been at the helm, 47 out of 56 games have been won. Although the team is much weaker this year it is thought that his passers will have another good season.

BUTLER SWAMPS HIGH SCHOOL BASKETEERS BY LARGE SCORE

Contest Between Ellwood High And Butler High Friday Results In Score Of 27-8

Opponents Collect A Big Lead At The First Of The Game, Locals Unable To Catch Up

(By TONY PASTA)
ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 18.—Another defeat was chalked up against Ellwood City's high school basketball team last night when Butler swamped them with a one-sided score of 27-8. The visitors got off to an early lead and were never in any danger of being overcome by the Tubers.

Coach Ingle's new machine was not able to overcome the big lead collected by the opponents during the first half. In the second stage of the battle the blue and white seemed much improved and allowed the winners to score only seven points. This was a great change, as the foes had collected 20 points in the opening sessions. But this may be accounted for in the fact that the enemy used their second string players in the latter part of the tilt.

Facing a fast and aggressive quint the locals played a hard game and kept up their spirit throughout the fray, but Ellwood's revamped machine could not keep the rapid pace set for them by the Butler county youths. The visitors presented a well-developed five which displayed a fine attack. Only two field goals were scored by Ellwood as Smith and Cloak sank one each. Rossmann contributed three fouls while Dudick tossed in one. A number of good shots were missed by the blue and white cagers, as they seemed too eager. Smith's goal was a long one from the side.

Texas was the big gun for the winners as he caged five goals. His brilliant performance was the greatest feature of the contest and his work was the main cog in the Butler machine. Downing and A. Lubuono also must be credited for their valuable assistance in the Butler victory.

The Tubers have not yet won a league contest as they lost to Mars and Evans City in previous battles. Last night's contest is the third defeat for the blue and white. Ellwood's new team will be forced to speed up in order to make up for lost time. The contest will be faced by the locals on Wednesday when they travel to New Castle to clash with the strong red and black aggregation. Up to this time this flashy five has not tasted defeat and is one of the leaders in the W. P. I. A. L. section of the league. This contest was formerly scheduled for January 24 but was changed due to the commencement exercises in New Castle on that date.

Lineup:
Ellwood City Butler

Engagement Of Local Girl Is Announced Today

Mrs. Reuben Reed

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. David J. Thomas of Seventh street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jessie, to Herbert Habert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Habert, of Cleveland.

Miss Thomas is affiliated with the Peoples National Bank and Habert is an employee of the National Tube company.

A fore-runner of the surprise was a gift to Mrs. Reed, after which the guests trooped in and overwhelmed the surprised groom guest with good wishes in honor of her birthday.

A supper was then enjoyed and an individual feast was a tray of individual cakes each bearing one candle. Games and contests were enjoyed and won by Miss Verna Moon, Mrs. Reed and Miss Jean Strohbeck.

Favors were presented to the children present, Jimmie and Junior Blaine, Ruth and Louise Denniston and Jean Strohbeck.

Guests enjoying the event were: Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Reed and children, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Denniston and Maybelle Denniston, Mrs. Myrtle Moon, Verna and Walter Moon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKinnon, Grace and Tom McKinnon, Miss May Boggs and Chub McKinnon.

Young People Have Official Election

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 18.—Members of the Young Peoples Council of the Slippery Rock church conducted a monthly meeting in the church last night and elected officers as follows:

President, Miss Kathleen Rabberman; vice president, Richard Wilson; secretary, Miss Naomi Steele; advisors, Miss Louise Steele and Loyd Shields.

There was a good attendance, a brief business session and an entertaining program.

MORAVIA STOP

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Harmony Baptist church held an all day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. James Hogue.

The attendance was good and a lot of work was accomplished. A delicious dinner was served at noon by Mrs. James Hogue, Mrs. Norman Hogue and Mrs. R. F. Houk.

A business meeting was held in the afternoon. Quitting was the business of the day. Several new members were added to the roll. Mrs. Cora Houk was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Henderson.

Little Phyllis Ashton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ashton was very painfully injured Tuesday, while playing at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wood.

She fell from a chair and cut her tongue so badly that six stitches were required to close the wound. The little girl was taken to the Ellwood Hospital and after receiving medical care was returned to her grandparents home where she is recovering as fast as could be expected.

Mrs. William Swope is serving on the jury at New Castle this week.

A number of young people from Moravia attended a birthday party in honor of Margaret Glasser of Rosepoint Tuesday evening. The crowd motored to the place where the hard team and proceeded straw ride style to the John Glasser home. They all had a good time and the honor guest was made happy by many beautiful gifts and good wishes.

Margaret Miller of Cline Hill, who is employed in New Castle is at her home suffering from a severe attack of whooping cough.

Margaret Swope who is employed in Ellwood City is spending this week at her home here.

Mrs. Clarence Ashton is very ill at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wood.

Recent word from St. Cloud, Florida reports Bert Wiley as some better.

Mrs. Ernest Locke was called to Ellwood last week by the very serious illness of her son-in-law William Martin. Mr. Martin is slowly recovering from a very serious attack of pneumonia.

Margaret Long attended the musical contest at Union High school Tuesday evening. Shenango High won first place in vocal music and tied for second place on trombone.

A movement is on foot to have a township road opened from Moravia to Baldwin. This is a much needed improvement and it is hoped our judge will see fit to grant the petition.

Alice Locke is employed in Ellwood City.

Little Betty Lou Swope is the latest victim of whooping cough.

Mrs. Effie Ritz and son George of New Castle spent Thursday with Mrs. Harry White and Mrs. Mary Hogue Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers spent Thursday in New Castle.

Mrs. William Kady of Ellwood City was a recent visitor at the Stephen Kady home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Will of Baldwin Stop were called to Ingomar by the death of a relative Thursday.

Mrs. Edd Johnson is confined in the Jameson Memorial hospital very ill with a complication of diseases.

Four Good Games In Church Loop

Third U. P., Central Christians, Temple Israel, and Highland Winners

Four game games were played in the New Castle Church League last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor.

In the first game the Third U. P. team hung an 18 to 12 defeat on the First Methodists. At the end of the half the score favored the Third U. P. 10 to 5. The Methodists played good ball in the final half. The high scorers of the game were Space, McCoy, and Crawford.

The Temple Israel team swamped the St. Johns Lutherans 15 to 3, not allowing them a field goal. The score at the half was 5 to 0. E. Solomon, Sam Levin and Davids played good basketball for the Temples. Kelso and Blaha shot fouls that saved the Lutherans from a shutout.

Christians Take Close One
The Central Christians leaders of the league ran into a tough foe in the Croton M. E. bunch, and barely managed to get their head above water for a 23 to 22 score. The score at half time found the Croton team led by Colaluca ahead 14 to 12. The Christians played the best ball in the final half outscoring the Croton team 11 to 8. It was the feature game on the bill. Smith, Vago and A. Bauman played the best game for the winners. Florell was a tower of strength to the Croton team, and also had a couple of field goals.

The final game on the bill was also a good one, the Highland U. P. team winning 15 to 13, over the Mahoning M. E. team. The score at half time favored the Mahoning team 7 to 6. Play in the final half was close and interesting, with the Smiths of both teams having the majority of the field goals. Jenkins, Clark and Spencer also played good basketball.

Several Big League Stars Will Receive Cuts In Pay Checks

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—If you care to accept the evidence being furnished today by some of America's outstanding letter carriers, Major League baseball finally has traded in its famous fountain pen—the thing that wrote lavishly in millions during the golden post-war era for the surgeon's scalpel, the thing that decimates, removes, in brief, subtracts. The latter, they say, writes a very unsatisfactory cheque. You can read what it says but you can't eat what it won't buy.

For instance, Mr. Dazzy Vance, who consented to live a life of ease and refinement on a salary of $25,000 last year, has been asked, they say, to accept a salary of $15,000 this year, with the privilege of taking less, if he wants it. It is understood, too, that Mr. Buzz McWeeny, who buzzed out $12,000 to $8,000, which seems fair enough in view of the fact that McWeeny finished the 1929 season with an earned run average of 6.10 per game, if he got any worse than that, they would have to charge him admission to the park.

Four Senators To Go
They also say that four members of the Washington Senators have been amputated where the receiving teller meets the trade.

One of them is said to have been Irving Hadley, the pitcher and I suspect another of being Mr. "Goose" Goslin. The goose may have hung high last year but not high enough to suit Clark Griffith, who owns the ball club. A telegraph pole might have done but they say Griffith was looking for a California redwood.

Outside of the fact that George Ruth, Alas Herman, is busy playing $85,000-or-so-count with the Yankees, the situation in New York may be said to be reasonably tranquil. The Yanks, it is understood, have taken Pennock's $18,000 salary and run it into a deficit and Hoyt is supposed to labor in reduced circumstances, too. The parade, of course has gone by Pennock definitely and he probably will take his cut in the spirit in which it is offered, this being the spirit of the Bronx, as follows: "Phooey to you, too."

Will Cut Roush
Nothing has been heard from Hoyt relative to his being too busy burying his head over in Brooklyn to bother with shoe shine money at the Yankee stadium, but the squawk doubtless has been aired already and probably will arrive here in the average traveling time from Brooklyn.

As for Ed Roush, he drew $25,000 for three seasons with the Giants and would have been reasonably cheap at $25,000. They will strike a balance somewhere in between these sums not too far from the latter and not near the former.

Anyhow, baseball is being very firm about this salary thing this year, you know, but diplomatically. "Congratulations," it says, politely. "We have only cut your salary in half."

NEW YORK STOCKS

Week End Stock Market Unsettled

By W. S. COUSINS

International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The week-end market was a repetition of the unsettledness in industrial, utility and specialty stocks that has been in effect since the middle of the week. The bears nounced heavily on the leading speculative stocks at the opening, in the hope of forcing out the weak-kneed holdings of stocks which have been under the hammer since Wednesday. Stop-loss orders by the scores were uncovered and prices were once again on the downward move.

Concentrating a heavy fire on U. S. Steel, The bears forced that stock down to 167 1/2, for a loss of nearly 2 points. This was discouraging to the bulls, for the reason that the price set on the stock by the directors this week, in their allotment to employees of the corporation, was $169 a share. A 5-point break in Fox Film A carried that stock back to 18, and raised new doubts as to the efficacy of the latest financial plan of the heads of the company; but Fox staged a sharp rally from this stage and sold above 20.

The week-end business review of Dun's, Bradstreet and the leading banking houses were mildly encouraging, as indicating the beginning of a revival in trade. Brookmire stated that the bottom of the depression had already been passed.

Striking and slashing at the utility stocks, the bears forced America and Foreign Power below 90, for a loss of 3 points. American Waterworks dropped off 3 points and Consolidated Gas 1 1/2.

As in the last day or two, General Motors received strong support around 33 1/2, and efforts of the professionals to break the stock below 38 were not more successful than they were on Thursday and Friday. United States Steel also gave a better account of itself in the second hour rallying back to 168 1/2 in active trading. Radio and Grigsby Crumroy dropped back a point each under pressure, Radio declining to 36 1/2.

Oil stocks refused to give ground and most of the leaders held firmly at Friday's closing prices. Liggett and Myers, American Tobacco and other prominent tobacco stocks were ready, when the storm blew over, to resume the upward move which was stimulated by the ending of the cigarette price war this week. American Can was also a strong spot in the rally, recovering all of its early losses.

Commodity markets were unsettled at the week-end, with cotton down about 10 points and grain fractionally lower.

"Medicine Ball" Tossed In Snow

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Everyday is meeting day for President Hoover's "medicine ball cabinet." Rain or shine, sleet or snow, the cabinet reports at the White House early and gets into action on the rear lawn at 7 a. m.

Today the players tossed the old exercise ball in a heavy snowstorm with about two inches of sleet and ice already underfoot. They wore heavy sweaters, sturdy shoes and rubbers.

Rail Consolidation Question Will Be Answered Shortly

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Rule On B. & O.
Proposal To Acquire
B. R. & P.

Commission Expected To Make Known Soon Stand
In Regard To Rail
Mergings

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The question whether the Interstate Commerce Commission will permit piecemeal consolidation of railroads or will demand consolidations en masse as outlined in its recent tentative consolidation plan, probably will be answered when the commission rules on the application of the Baltimore & Ohio to acquire stock control of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, it was indicated today.

There are strong indications that the commission will act favorably in the Baltimore & Ohio-Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh case, thus paving the way for other railroads to bring in new plans for control of individual roads allocated to them in the general consolidation plan. It is known that a number of roads are working out such plans for early transmission to the commission.

Opposition Withdrawn

The fact that the Wabash and Pittsburgh & West Virginia railroads have withdrawn their opposition to the plan of the Baltimore & Ohio to take over the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh and the further fact that this road has been allocated to the Baltimore & Ohio in the so-called Porter consolidation plan, lends color to the belief that the commission will lose little time to giving the necessary authorization.

The action of the commission in ordering the Baltimore & Ohio to dispose of its holdings in the Western Maryland as being in violation of the Clayton Anti-Trust act, opens the way for the Wabash to apply for stock control of that road. It has been given that road in the general consolidation scheme and possibly will make formal application for the necessary authority shortly.

To Take Action
Following its action in refusing the Baltimore & Ohio the right to retain control over the Western Maryland, the commission is expected soon to take similar action against the Pennsylvania company involving large holdings in the Wabash and Lehigh Valley railroads. The case has been pending some time and as the Baltimore & Ohio case is now out of the way it is expected that the commission will act promptly in the Pennsylvania case.

In the meantime the House Interstate Commerce committee plans to go thoroughly into the question of holding companies controlling railroad securities. The commission has asked for such an inquiry because it apparently is without jurisdiction over such holding companies as the Allegheny Corporation, which acts for the Van Sweringen interests and the Pennroad Co., which holds securities for the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pennsylvania company.

Triangle Club Honors Member At Farewell Party

As a farewell tribute to Miss Erma Becker, who will leave in a week for Phoenix, Arizona, for her health, the Blue Triangle club of the Y. W. C. A. entertained at a farewell party Friday evening.

The party took place at the home of one of the members, Miss Ruth Cowles, on North street. The evening proved to be an enjoyable one, social chat and games being diversions. Twenty members were present.

Standard Bearers Have Fine Meeting

Monthly Meeting Occurs; Other News Notes Of The Seventh Ward

Miner Circle Standard Bearers of the Mahoning M. E. church had their monthly meeting Friday evening in the church parlor. There was a good attendance of members present. Mrs. Q. E. Davy is counselor of the society. During the meeting there was an interesting program.

A chapter of the missionary study book entitled "The One Who Went and the One She Found," was discussed by Miss Dorothy Johnston. Each year the young people of the Methodist church send their money toward the mission work among the young people of foreign countries. In appreciation of the young people's money of this country the young people have sent a collection of love gifts which are being exhibited at meetings of the young people's missionary societies. These love gifts included drawings, crocheted articles, knitting, dolls, etc., which had been made by the young people of China, Mexico, Africa, India, Singapore and other countries. The viewing of the collection was found very interesting by the girls. Mrs. D. D. Sleppy, young people's secretary of Erie conference, has the collection at the present time and it will be sent to the various meetings of the young people's societies.

Following the meeting a social time was enjoyed. At a seasonable hour dainty refreshments were served in the church dining room by the associate hostesses, who were Mrs. Charles Bocher, Miss Edis McCann and Miss Rose Gabella.

REV. ENGLE PREACHES
Rev. Joseph Engle, pastor of the Bessmer Presbyterian church, preached Friday evening at the preparatory service in the Mahoning Presbyterian church. Rev. Engle's talk was very interesting and enjoyed by all present. This special service was in preparation for the communion service to be held in the church on Sunday. Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the local church, presided over the service.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Rev. W. W. Sniff, pastor. Bible school at 9:45 a. m. Communion and preaching at 10:30 a. m. 6:30 p. m. Junior Christian Endeavor. Senior Christian Endeavor at seven p. m. Evening church service at 7:45. The pastor will preach at both church services.

South Side Merchants Form Board Of Trade

First Meeting Is Held On Thursday Night; Second Meeting Wednesday

The latest organization of the South Side is the South Side Merchants Board of Trade, which held its first meeting on Thursday night at the office of Dr. P. I. Ginsburg. The second meeting of this organization will take place on Wednesday evening at 8:00. All merchants of that district are being mailed letters inviting them to attend the next meeting.

Temporary officers were elected last night who will preside until permanent officers are elected by the members at the next general meeting. The purpose of organizing the South Side Board of Trade is to further better co-operation among the business men of that district as well as to promote better civic interest. The organization will at all times lend its co-operation in boosting any movement which will prove beneficial to the city or the South Side.

LOCAL MINISTERS AT ANNIVERSARY

Guests Of Rev. Sam R. Maitland At 27th Spiritual Birthday Program

Celebrating his 27th annual spiritual birthday, the Rev. Samuel R. Maitland, former local pastor but now located at Ridgeville, Butler county, was host to over 300 ministerial and laymen friends at an all-day program at the Ridgeville M. E. church on Thursday.

Local ministers journeyed to the neighboring county town by motor to be present for the entire program. Opening the anniversary, which far exceeded any in the past, was a chicken dinner at noon. Following the sumptuous spread, Rev. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church here and general chairman for the day, assumed charge and called the meeting to order.

Numerous ministers, all long friends of Rev. Maitland spoke for their congregations as well as themselves. Included in this number were Rev. A. M. Stump, Rev. Oscar Woods, Rev. S. L. Maxwell, Rev. J. Finkbeiner, Rev. Floyd Childs and Rev. John Ruggiero, New Castle pastors, and Rev. McCullough and Rev. Bishop, of

Never Scratch An Itching Skin

May Cause Dangerous Infection

The intense desire to pick and scratch an itching, burning skin—Eczema, Rash, Pimples—often causes serious trouble by infection or spreading the condition.

Instead, wash the affected parts with San-Cura Soap, and then apply San-Cura Ointment. Quickly they begin to soothe, cool and comfort the tortured skin, bring sweet relief, and tend to allay further trouble.

San-Cura Ointment and Soap are soothing too for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Boils, Itching or Piles and Sunburn. Try them tonight. Druggists everywhere are authorized to say "Must satisfy or money back." San-Cura Ointment, 35c, 60c, $1.25. Soap, 25c.

For sale by all druggists.

Names Confused In Federation
There has been some confusion about the meeting of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs meeting on Tuesday. They will hold their "Old Fashioned Party" in the Highland United Presbyterian church, beginning with the executive board meeting at 11 o'clock and continuing with the 12:30 luncheon and entertainment at 2 o'clock.
